Koenig's Budget Shows Tax Hike

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON

Mayor Francis R. Koenig released his proposed 1972 budget today and as expected, it carried a hefty tax increase for city residents, some $10.98 per thousand dollars of assessed valuation.

The proposed tax rate in Koenig's budget is $70.73 per thousand, compared to the 1971 rate of $59.75. The hike, of $10.98 is made up of an increase of $6.53 per thousand for state and county purposes and $4.45 for city purposes. It is the first tax increase for Kingstonians since 1968 when city residents absorbed a whopping $13.11 increase of which the bulk, $9.16 was the result of increased county charges.

In round figures, the 1972 increase means the owner of a $20,000 home in the city, with an assessment of $6,700, will pay another $75 next year toward city expenses.

Total spending for fiscal 1972 in Kingston will hit another record high, coming in at $6,041,491. The budgeted figure for 1971 was $5,863,671 but the city did not spend all of that, the mayor said, due to cutbacks in state aid this spring of $440,000. Koenig shows a surplus of $30,888 in his 1971 budget.

Besides cutting initial departmental requests submitted to him on Dec. 1 by hundreds of thousands of dollars, Koenig also cut back in two major areas in an effort "to keep the tax increase as low as possible." The capital projects sector, budgeted at $259,800 in 1970 and $244,000 this year, has been reduced to only $75,000, a savings of $169,000 or about $4.25 on the tax rate. Koenig also cut back heavily in his payment on the city debt. In 1970 and 1971 those payments were about $415,000. They have been reduced by almost $80,000 for next year. The reductions in those two areas alone totaled almost $250,000.

Also on the plus side, the mayor's budget shows an increase of $160,000 in sales tax receipts for 1972 over 1971 and an increase of $37,000 in the Utilities Gross Receipt Tax for a total of $197,000.

But minuses outnumber pluses in the 1972 budget. Salaries are up across the board at the rate of five and a half per cent. That translates into an additional $30,493 for salaries in the Fire Department, another $45,737 in the Police Department and an additional $96,830 in the Public Works Department, the city's largest employer with more than 100 workers. The total increase in spending for those three departments is $176,680.

Salaries are only half of it. The city has also granted its employees increased benefits such as earlier retirements and better hospitalization plans.

The city's share on hospital and medical insurance will be $140,000 in 1972, up from this year's $115,000. A dental plan negotiated by the Fire Department will cost $18,000. The city's share of Social Security is up $20,000 from this year's $140,000. The biggest one, state retirement, was only $206,819 in 1970. It will be $422,785 in 1972, an increase of almost $200,000 over this year's cost.

The city still has no clear picture on what it will be receiving in revenues from the state in 1972 as state legislators were still working on Gov. Rockefeller's emergency tax package when Koenig's budget went to print. An arbitrary figure of $795,000 was penciled into the '72 city budget under "state aid per capita," a decrease of some $375,000 from the amount budgeted in 1971. "We don't know what we'll be getting from the state," Koenig said last week. "We probably won't know for sure until March or April."

Mayor Koenig will hold a public hearing on the budget Thursday night at 7:30 p. m. in the Common Council Chambers, third floor, City Hall, 408 Broadway. At that time, the mayor will review his budget and any person can speak for or against it or ask questions.

The Finance Committee of the Common Council will receive the mayor's budget at the regular meeting of the Council on Jan. 4. Members of that three-man committee will be officially named by Council President T. Robert Gallo on New Year's Day.

The Council has traditionally cut the mayor's budget although those cuts in recent years have been slight, usually amounting to less than one dollar on the tax rate or $40,000 in the overall budget. A simple majority of the Council (seven votes) which now includes nine members of the mayor's Democratic party, is need for official approval of the budget.

Governor's Plans Dead, Claims Bell

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

"The governor's budget proposals as presented are apparently dead," Assemblyman H. Clark Bell told The Freeman today, adding that the state's fiscal crisis is "worse than Rockefeller has indicated."

Bell said that even if the Legislature voted for all of the governor's proposals, the state would still be $350 million in the red because he has overestimated revenues and underestimated expenditure levels.

Calling the situation a "deepening crisis", Bell feels a long range solution will have to be devised.

Judging from the present sentiment among state legislators, he judges that the Assembly GOP leadership would need 25 to 30 Democratic votes to pass the present budget.

Related Legislature Stories on Page 7.

Recalling that the governor has prided himself in the past for having the state on a pay as you go basis, Bell said that an analysis of Rockefeller's fiscal program shows a tremendous divergence from his principle.

Bell said that one of the long term proposals, a five-year plan, would freeze all aid to school districts and local governments and make the state live within its actual tax dollars. At the end of the fifth year (1976), he explained, the state would hopefully pull out of the situation but would have five continuous years of austerity with no growth in government.

The difference with this plan, he continued, is that the billion dollar deficit would be financed by having state comptroller Arthur Levitt issue tax anticipation notes.

Commenting on the plan, Bell suggested that there is a strong issue of constitutionality "as you would not have a balanced budget for five years and would actually be engaged in pre-planned concerted deficit financing."

"Besides the issue of constitutionality there is the question of Levitt's willingness to engage in such a program," Bell suggested, adding "and what of his successor?"

"All in all," he concludes, "there are a tremendous number of 'ifs', no agreement and rising hostility to the manner in which the governor has brought this issue before the legislature."

In Albany today, Rockefeller has indicated his proposals are geared to a solution by Jan. 1. He estimates the state faces a $1.5 billion deficit over the next 15 months.

U.S. Bombing Raids... No Letup in Sight

SAIGON (AP) — The heaviest American air attack on North Vietnam in more than three years continued for the fourth day today with no letup in sight.

U.S. diplomatic sources reported that the armada of 350 planes and helicopters flew more than 500 attack strikes and hundreds more support missions in the first 3½ days of the round-the-clock bombing that began Sunday.

To keep the attack force at full strength, a scheduled port leave for the carrier Constellation was delayed and it continued to launch its planes from the Tonkin Gulf, along with the carrier Coral Sea.

The Constellation and the Coral Sea are supplying about 150 fighter bombers to the force attacking North Vietnam. The rest of the aircraft come from bases in South Vietnam and Thailand.

Radio Hanoi claimed that a seventh U.S. plane was shot down Tuesday, in Quang Binh Province just north of the demilitarized zone. It said nothing about the crew. Radio Hanoi reported earlier that five planes were shot down on Sunday and a sixth on Monday. It said a number of the pilots were killed or captured.

The U.S. Command refused to comment on the report of the number of strikes flown. Hanoi's claims of seven planes downed or its report that the raiders had killed or wounded many civilians. The command said that for security reasons it would disclose no details of the operation until it was completed.

Hanoi claimed that in Thanh Hoa Province on Sunday the U.S. planes killed 24 civilians and wounded 47. A broadcast said most of the casualties were caused by steel-pellet antipersonnel bombs dropped on workers in the fields; and that targets for the bombs included the Thanh Hoa hospital.

Despite the magnitude of the campaign, the U.S. Defense Department denied that it had turned the clock back to 1968, before President Lyndon B. Johnson halted the bombing of North Vietnam.

"We have not resumed the bombing campaign of the North," Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedman said in Washington. "Our operations are limited duration strikes. They are limited as to geography and targets."

Lincoln Memorial Barricade: 87 Demonstrators Arrested

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More than 80 persons were arrested at a human barricade put up by Vietnam war veterans staging an antiwar protest at the Lincoln Memorial in Washington.

The arrests Tuesday followed by only a few hours a decision by 15 members of the same group, the Vietnam Veterans Against the War, to end their 40-hour occupation of the Statue of Liberty.

At the Lincoln Memorial, the U.S. park police arrested 87 demonstrators who refused to move from the entrance. The protesters placed their hands on their head in prisoner of war fashion and waited for police to lead them to waiting buses. They were charged with blocking the entrance to a building, a misdemeanor.

The last person arrested was Gerald Evan, a University of Massachusetts student and an Air Force veteran. Evan had climbed atop a huge urn in front of the memorial and held aloft a flag emblazoned "Vietnam Veterans Against the War."

Thirty minutes after the last of his comrades was arrested, he shouted to police: "You told me I was under arrest and I surrender. I'm your prisoner and under your custody. All you have to do is come and get me."

In the end, he climbed down and gave up.

Earlier, park police chased one protester from the urn across the memorial steps and knocked him down. Two others were arrested when they moved close to him.

Some 150 protesters had marched peacefully from the base of the Capitol to the front of the White House and then to the memorial.

The group had burned copies of the North Vietnamese seven-point peace plan at the base of the Capitol. Then, at the memorial, the group placed an empty coffin in front of the seated likeness of the 16th president. The protesters stood silently while taps was played, then staged a short sit-down before locking arms and attempting to barricade the entrance.

Demonstrators in New York left the Statue of Liberty in good shape, according to James Bateman, the statue's superintendent. Floors were cleared and refuse placed in garbage cans.

The veterans left behind five $1 bills with a note explaining the money was to pay for some food and coffee they had taken from a refrigerator in an employees' cafeteria. They also left a message in the guest book which read:

"May those people who happen to leaf through these pages in search of the name of a friend know that on this page are the names of 15 men who carried out a beautiful thought—that we should all live in peace."

The group left on the order of a federal judge. There was no indication that the 15 young men faced charges.

The veterans said the coffin in front of Lincoln contained symbolically burned peace proposals. The group had marched from the U.S. Capitol past the White House to the memorial. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has signed into law a bill initiated by congressional conservatives which requires many healthy welfare mothers to work or accept job training.

Critics of the measure say chances for enactment of the other key parts of the President's welfare reform plan: a guaranteed annual income and welfare benefits for low-income job holders.

Other President Nixon Stories are on Page 28.

The bill Nixon signed at the Florida White House Tuesday during the congressional recess goes into effect July 1. It makes it mandatory for many of the 2.6 million parents in the controversial aid to families with dependent children program to sign up for available jobs or training.

Only the aged, the sick or disabled, those in school or mothers of children under school age are exempted.

The measure, attached as an amendment to a larger bill, was quietly passed by the House and Senate Dec. 15 with little debate or advance notice.

Welfare administrators say the problem is not finding welfare recipients to sign up for jobs, but finding any jobs at all for those who will or are able to work.

Authorities Checking Cause of Death

Poughkeepsie Man Dies After Car Crash

By WALTER S. CLARK

A 39-year-old Poughkeepsie man died Tuesday afternoon after his car was involved in a spectacular two-car accident on Tucker's Corner Road in this Township, that resulted in injuries to his wife, their five children and the driver of the other vehicle.

Another traffic accident that occurred in Southern Ulster County on Tuesday involved two vehicles and resulted in severe injuries to a woman and her mother.

Other highway mishaps were investigated by area police. Dead, allegedly as the result of the Plattekill crash that occurred early yesterday afternoon, was Sam R. DiCapua of 87 Clark Street, Poughkeepsie, the driver of one car.

A report of State Trooper Brian S. O'Connor of Highland who investigated the accident noted the other car was driven by Dominico Campisi, 66, of RFD 2, Highland. He suffered lacerations of the face and other injuries.

DiCapua's wife, Dalia, 40, received multiple body bruises. The couple's five children who were injured were listed as Gino, 7, who suffered multiple abrasions and contusions; Deborah, 13, who sustained a broken leg; Marie, 11, who also suffered a broken leg; Dominic, 9, who was treated for lacerations of the forehead, and Sandra, 3, who reportedly received a broken leg.

The injured were taken by ambulance to Vassar and St. Francis' Hospital in Poughkeepsie.

DiCapua was pronounced dead at St. Francis' Hospital by a resident physician.

Dutchess County Medical Examiner Dr. William W. Bennett of Millbrook investigated to determine the cause of the man's death. It was reported authorities were checking the possibility that DiCapua may have suffered a heart attack following the crash.

According to an investigation by Trooper O'Connor which is being continued, DiCapua was traveling south on Tucker's Corner Road and Campisi was proceeding in a northerly direction when his car reportedly crossed into the opposite lane where the collision occurred.

The Clintondale Fire Department was dispatched to the scene of the mishap to hose down the pavement and remove gasoline that spilled from the vehicles.

It was reported by police that it was necessary to pull apart the wreckage of the Poughkeepsie man's car to extract him.

A two-car collision on Route 9W, Town of Marlborough, was investigated Tuesday after 8 p.m. by Highland State Trooper George P. Rebhan, who reported the vehicles involved were operated by Carl Crill, 41, of Highland Falls, and Vincenzo Castro Giovanni, 47, of Ridge Road, Marlboro.

Police reported the woman was northbound when her car crossed into the opposite lane and was in collision with the Crill vehicle.

Troopers said Mrs. Giovanni suffered lacerations of the face and head and possible internal injuries. Her mother, Mrs. Christina Sinatra, 79, of Milton, a passenger in the car sustained facial and head lacerations and possible internal injuries.

The women were removed to a hospital in Newburgh for treatment.

Another two-car personal injury accident occurred at 6 p.m. Tuesday on Route 209 five miles south of Route 28 in the Town of Marlborough, according to Hurley State Police.

The vehicles involved were driven by William Atkinson, 48, of Box 268, Accord, and Paul Hajba Sr., 47, of Sunset Garden Apartments, Kingston.

Trooper Edward A. Zeboris reported Hajba was southbound on the highway and slowing down to make a left turn and Atkinson was going in the same direction following the other vehicle when the accident occurred.

Atkinson was taken to Benedictine Hospital in Kingston by Fatum's Ambulance and treated for injuries of his face. Atkinson was cited for driving while intoxicated, police said. The summons is returnable at a later date before a r b l e t o w n Town Justice Robert Diamond.

Ceiling on Physicians' Fees Irks the Medical Assn.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American Medical Association, insisting it wants "to cooperate with President Nixon's curb on inflation," has complained to the Cost of Living Council about a 2.5 per cent ceiling on increases in physicians' fees.

In the hierarchy of Phase II economics, the Cost of Living Council sits one step higher than the Price Commission, which imposed the ceiling Dec. 15.

Donald Rumsfeld, director of the Cost of Living Council, suggested that the AMA take its case directly to the Price Commission, according to his spokesman. Rumsfeld heard the complaint Tuesday from a contingent headed by Dr. Max H. Parrott, chairman of the AMA board of trustees.

In a statement after the meeting at the White House, the AMA said, "While stressing medicine's desire to cooperate with President Nixon's curb on inflation, Dr. Parrott took exception to price control proposals that would deny treatment equal to that given other providers of professional services."

The 2.5 per cent annual limit on fee increases was the same imposed on all other services and industries at the start of Phase II Nov. 14. But the commission gave special attention to health services because the annual rate of inflation in that sector of the economy was estimated at 13 per cent.

The commission ruled that doctors and others in their category would be required to maintain for inspection a list of prices that were being charged for medical services during the 90-day economic freeze. The 2.5 per cent guidelines require increases to be justified by higher operating costs.

On other economic fronts Tuesday, the Price Commission approved a 6.9 per cent price increase for most products of the Wheeling-Pittsburgh Steel

Co. and the Commerce Department reported a composite index of leading economic indicators edged up in November.

The index of eight indicators went up 0.2 per cent from October, the 11th gain in the past 13 months. The index has risen 13 per cent since November, 1970.

The strongest gains were a 3.6 per cent boost in new factory orders for durable goods and a 3 per cent rise in contracts and orders for new plants and equipment. The leading negative factor was a 9.7 per cent decline in new housing starts.

Crangle New Dem Leader

JOSEPH F. CRANGLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Joseph Crangle takes up his duties as Democratic state chairman today with a $275,000 hole in his party pocket, the possibility of a court challenge and an expressed hope for patching up the divisions that surfaced during his election.

Crangle, the 39-year-old Erie County Democratic chairman, was elected head of the state's Democratic party Tuesday after telling the state committee he intended to be "no one's man."

Crangle, who has endorsed Sen. Edmund S. Muskie's presidential campaign, also promised that he would be "a neutral state chairman."

He later explained that he would support any candidate the party united behind, but would stay neutral if the party remained divided before next summer's national convention. The new state chairman, who has been Erie County chairman since 1965, said in a short victory statement that "only all together can we assure victory for our Democratic party and its candidates."

Margaret Reid of Yonkers, Crangle's only opponent, interrupted the balloting at the Americana Hotel to withdraw her candidacy and urge unanimous support for Crangle's election.

The contest pitted members of the party's Reform caucus and black caucus, who supported Mrs. Reid, against almost unanimous upstate support for Crangle. Manhattan, Brooklyn and Bronx county chairmen also supported Crangle.

Crangle succeeds John M. Burns, who announced his resignation to become national coordinator of Mayor John V. Lindsay's presidential primary campaign. He inherits a party debt estimated at $275,000.

The likelihood of holding the election had been in question Tuesday until an Appellate Division panel of judges overturned a ruling by State Supreme Court Justice Frank P. DeLuca that restrained the Democrats from meeting.

A suit to block the special session had been brought by Suffolk County Democratic leader Dominick J. Baranello, who said the meeting had been called too hastily and asked for a delay. The Appellate Division, while overturning the temporary restraining order, agreed to hear the substance of the claim on Jan. 10. Baranello also said he would decide today whether he would take his challenge of the meeting to the state Court of Appeals.

Lindsay Enters Wisconsin Primary

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — Political maverick John V. Lindsay, bearing the banner of the "America that Washington has ignored," arrived in Wisconsin today to try to win the votes of one of the nation's most unpredictable electorates.

The tall, dapper New York mayor had an early morning news conference to officially declare his candidacy in the April 4 Wisconsin primary. Then he began a whirlwind tour taking him to cities from the size of Cadott, with fewer than 1,000 residents — to Milwaukee, with more than 1 million in its metropolitan area.

Lindsay, 50, who abandoned the Republican Party four months ago, said Tuesday in Florida that he would start his drive for the presidential nomination in that state's March 14 primary.

"I am going to take my case to the voters as bluntly and as plainly as I can," Lindsay said. "I am here because there are too many politicians speaking from Washington, and there are too few speaking to Washington, from America," he said.

"I am here because I share in common with hundreds of mayors and millions of citizens an overwhelming sense of exclusion from the power centers of Washington—a sense that how we live, what we care about, what we need for a chance at a better life simply does not matter to those who run this country."

In Wisconsin, Lindsay will be counting on some of the flair that marked John F. Kennedy's successful foray into the state in 1960.

Two weeks ago, Lindsay called Wisconsin a "very special challenge" to his campaign because of its history of supporting independent candidates.

The state, home of the La Follette progressives earlier in the century, has had a history of unpredictable elections and voting for candidates who run without party backing.

Lindsay does not expect the support of the established Democratic leaders in Wisconsin, mainly because of his status as a newcomer to the party.

"I think I'll be very much alone," he said.

One of those who is running the Lindsay campaign is Gerald Bruno, a former Kenosha labor leader and a prime organizer in the 1960 Kennedy campaign in Wisconsin.

Lindsay is entering Wisconsin as a definite underdog. Maine Sen. Edmund Muskie is the current frontrunner, and Sen. George McGovern, D-N.D., has a solid organization established.

Despite Lindsay's appeal as a representative of the cities, Muskie already has an established edge with appeal to the ethnic groups of the Milwaukee and Fox Valley areas, and also has the backing of many of those who supported Kennedy in 1960.

Lindsay's candidacy is expected to cut into the votes that McGovern could expect and he could also draw votes from Republicans, who are allowed to cross over and vote Democratic in the primary.

At least six candidates are expected on the Democratic ballot. In addition to Lindsay, Muskie, McGovern and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, the others expected to be on are former Sen. Eugene McCarthy and Sen. Henry Jackson of Washington.

Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty, Sen. Vance Hartke of Indiana and Rep. Shirley Chisholm of New York also are possible Democratic candidates.

Ashbrook New GOP Challenger

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John M. Ashbrook, a conservative Republican from Ohio, definite what he has hinted at for weeks—that he will run against President Nixon in some Republican primaries next year.

Since his possible candidacy was first mentioned early this month, the 43-year-old, six-term congressman has roused in creasing interest in challenging Nixon from the right.

Ashbrook says he has no illusions that he could defeat Nixon in any primary, but he thinks a strong showing of conservative unhappiness with the Nixon administration would lead to policy changes.

He and other conservatives are particularly critical of Nixon's overtures to Red China.

Review Shows Dynamic Change in Town of Rhinebeck

By TIM SHUSTER

RHINEBECK
A review of government-related happenings in the Town of Rhinebeck in 1971 emphasizes the dramatic and sometimes dynamic change which has taken place.

Changes in personnel account for some of the differences. In January, town attorney Silas Frazier was replaced by Carl Ulrich. Planning Board chairman Homer Staley resigned, and was replaced by Robert Shackleton. And Herman Tietjen took office as town justice, replacing George Harrington. Elections in November found the Republicans replacing Robert Wolfert with Del Wolcott, Tietjen keeping his appointed seat, and other incumbents having little difficulty in defeating a slate of independent candidates. The Democrats chose not to run for office this year.

A mid-summer referendum on whether or not to retain elected assessors resulted in the retention of the three-man elected board.

Some disagreement on the future of the town jail ended in a decision to convert it to office space. The work was recently completed.

A legal Halloween curfew law was drafted and implemented for the first time.

One of the major items was the implementation of the town zoning law after three years of work and five public hearings. It was somewhat less stringent than the original law, and also less stringent than those adopted by the three other northern Dutchess towns participating in the professional study.

Demolition and construction on the ferry dock for use by boatowners and other townspeople is well underway, with further improvements planned for next year. Constable powers were defined and increased from purely civil matters, and the constables are wearing, for the first time, a full police uniform with town identification.

A tentative plan for landfill site sharing with the Town of Red Hook is still being discussed, and the outcome is uncertain. In a related matter, a petition was put before the town asking it to consider total recycling of solid wastes. This is under study by the newly appointed conservation commission.

The Grand Union story began with rezoning of a portion of Astor Flats for commercial use and followed with the ultimate blessing of the Zoning Board of Appeals, chaired by Arthur Carl, to build. Plans were disrupted, but only until larger plans can be drawn up and submitted for approval.

The continuing problems with dogs have aroused more calls for a dog law, but with no place to put the dogs since the ASPCA became unavailable, the law would not seem to solve anything.

Another effort, this time by Town Justice DeWitt Gurnell, to get the youth involved in a town hall coffee house fizzled and then went down the drain. Senior citizens were given an increase in income exemption for tax purposes from $3,000 to $5,000 by the town board.

A joint contract was signed with Kingston Cablevision to provide CATV service to Rhinebeck. There have been no service hookups yet, although work is completed on towers and head-end.

A mass gathering law was passed, ostensibly to forestall the occasion of Woodstock Festival-type gatherings in the town.

Some good news was the vocal approval of a plan to convert some town-owned acreage on Stone Church Road into a recreation area for townspeople, complete with two Little League diamonds.

A five-year road improvement "Donovan Plan" was drawn up and submitted to the state for approval. It will provide 25 percent of construction and maintenance costs for approved items.

The budget approved for 1972 shows very little increase or decrease in the tax picture, as the board played it cautious.

New subdivision regulations have been given to the town board for consideration and a public hearing sometime in January.

Some massive construction projects underway include the 32-bed Fennell Nursing Home on River Road; the planned Baptist Home of Brooklyn at the former Brookmeade property on Route 308; and a 140-unit apartment dwelling on Route 9, in the village.

And the former Cardinal Farley Military Academy succumbed to be transformed into a narcotics rehabilitation center for 12-16-year-old children and named Holy Cross Campus.

Ellenville UR Project... ...Final Approval Coming

By WADE BURKHART

ELLENVILLE
Ellenville Urban Renewal Director Gerald Herman stated Tuesday it was definite that the Ellenville project would get approval of the new planning contract it had been seeking.

The approval must come from the New York Office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development. Herman said he learned Tuesday the approval was forthcoming, and only awaited a staff memo before being officially communicated.

The idea of having new planners look over the Ellenville project has been in the works for about a year and a half. The present plan dates from the early 60-s, and plan shortcomings and plan changes have caused problems.

The contract the Ellenville agency wants is with the firm of Raymond, Parish and Pine, for $39,000. The review of the project and plan will be conducted in five phases, extending over about four months.

Herman said he had been in contact with Kurt Mohr of the planning firm, and Mohr told him they were ready to start work "immediately" as soon as the contracts were signed.

The HUD approval follows a visit made two weeks ago to Ellenville by a HUD team. The team was to examine the Ellenville project to determine if the planning firm was necessary, and to consider the possibility of new or amendatory funds for the project. No word on the funds had yet been received.

Herman said the new planning program was "going to represent an effort to tie up a lot of loose ends in the program. I think we'll finally have a clear picture of the program and goals when it is finished."

There has been some criticism among local residents of the bringing in of outside planners. Some, such as Ellenville Chamber of Commerce President Richard Rothman, have advocated the use of local planners who might be more familiar with Ellenville's problems.

Herman cited the wide experience of the planning firms as an aid in getting "good advice" for the Ellenville project, and said, "Sometimes it's better to be from outside, and be objective."

Licenses, Registrations Date Extended

KINGSTON — Motor Vehicle Commissioner Vincent L. Tofany today announced that all New York State drivers licenses and motor vehicle registration scheduled to expire on Dec. 31 have been extended for one week through midnight Friday, Jan. 7.

He said the extension was required for the implementation of a unique state-wide program which the Department of Motor Vehicles had developed for taxicab and livery vehicle registrations.

Beginning Jan. 1, those taxicabs regulated by a county or municipality will display license plates coded with the initial "T". All other taxi and livery vehicle plates will display the initial "L". In each case the plates will begin with three numbers, followed by the letter "T" or "L" and two more numbers, with the word "taxi" or "livery" underneath.

Tofany said his department had introduced the program to assist municipalities in regulating taxicabs and other for-hire vehicles, and to enable the public to identify the type of taxicab being hailed. He noted that in New York City, the "O series" license plates currently displayed by both taxicabs and livery vehicles had made it difficult for a passenger to distinguish between a medallion cab regulated by the city and a nonmedallion or "gypsy" cab.

In announcing the extension, the commissioner stressed that continuous insurance coverage would still be required. He added that the new registration program would not affect the "Z series" license plates assigned to rental vehicles and certain for-hire limousines.

Glassman Issues Holiday Warning

KINGSTON — Then a Host "First a Friend" serving rich foods that would help both to moderate the effects of drinking and to reduce the amount of alcohol that guests might otherwise consume to "stay with the party." As a first step, the chief asked party hosts to not push drinks on guests who will be drinking. He also recommended — at least an hour before the end of the party — helps a great deal too," the chief said. He added, "That help comes by giving drivers a longer break before they get behind the wheel." The chief also suggested that hosts should make a special effort to arrange transportation for guests who have overindulged. In stressing the danger of driving under the influence of alcohol, Glassman said that real hospitality included full-filling the holiday wish of "many happy returns" by helping guests get to their homes safely.

STUDY GOVERNMENT — Seventh and eighth graders of Rondout Valley Middle School visited the County Office Building recently, accompanied by advisors, Wayne Semelmacher and Edwin Cummings. They were conducted on a tour of the facilities by Frank Fabbie (L) deputy clerk of the Ulster County Legislature who is shown distributing literature on government to the students.

Muskie's Delegate Strength

A state-by-state survey shows top Democratic leaders in 22 states either are committed to or leaning toward Senator Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, enough to give him the Democratic nomination for President if the party officials can swing their state delegations behind them. The survey gives Muskie 1,558 delegate votes, 49 more than is needed to clinch it.

The Christian Science Monitor went to key Democrats in every state in the nation and confirmed that no other Democratic candidate is even close to Muskie in the bid for leadership support at this time. Strong residual support for Senator Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts was found, but key leaders have taken him at his word, that this is not his year. Only Massachusetts and New Jersey at this point would give him their votes.

The standing of the candidates as seen by the state leaders, at the turn of the year and before any of the 23 primaries have been held, looks like this:

Muskie, 22 states—North Dakota, New York, California, Iowa, Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Illinois, Kansas, Maine, Michigan, Missouri, Montana, New Hampshire, North Carolina, Ohio, Oregon, Rhode Island, Utah, Vermont, West Virginia and Wisconsin—1,558 votes.

Senator Henry M. Jackson of Washington, 8 states—Alaska, Washington, Nevada, New Mexico, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida—296 votes.

Senator Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, 4 states—Texas, Minnesota, Wyoming, Delaware—218 votes.

Senator Kennedy, 2 states—Massachusetts and New Jersey—211 votes.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas, 5 states—Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee—182 votes.

Senator George S. McGovern, South Dakota, 2 states—South Dakota and Nebraska—41 votes.

Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York City is not even mentioned.

Undecided states, Indiana, Kentucky, Virginia, Maryland, Connecticut and Hawaii plus the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands—510 votes.

On the basis of such a showing, Muskie's supporters would normally claim a mathematical victory. The reason they don't is: It is seven months before the national convention and much can happen to change the outlook; the party reforms may bring in any number of independent-minded delegates; the youth vote is unpredictable; the polls show the Maine Senator slipping. Nonetheless, unless his opponents can decide on one other man to back—a most unlikely development—Muskie is all but in, for the nomination.

No Real Favor

Given the penchant of human nature to procrastinate to the last minute on unpleasant obligations, the new rule by the Internal Revenue Service permitting taxpayers to file their income tax returns two months later than formerly probably will have a number of takers. Some of them may find the extension in time costly.

As usual in new rules designed to "help" the taxpayer, the IRS includes a number of ifs, whereas and even penalties in its late-filing procedure. Basically the idea—as announced by IRS Commissioner Johnnie M. Walters—is that individual taxpayers will be granted the extra months past the April 15 deadline.

But they will still have to pay substantially all of their taxes due by the earlier date, or face a penalty. If taxpayers want the two months' extra time, they will have to file a special form notifying the IRS of their intention. At the same time they will have to estimate their tax bill and send payment, along with the extension notice.

When the final return is filed, if they missed their tax estimate by more than 10 per cent, a penalty will be added. Interest at the rate of 6 per cent also will be added to any payments made on the final return. There is no provision for interest on rebates caused by overpayment.

Payment of taxes, thus, is made no easier by the time extension. It merely postpones the day of final reckoning and adds to the cost for at least some taxpayers. It also tends to shrink the gap between last year's taxes and this year's obligations.

WASHINGTON — The Zionists and refugees aren't the only Jews who look upon Israel as the promised land. A disturbing number of Jewish racketeers have also sought sanctuary in Israel. Within the underworld, these criminal operators are known as the "Kosher Nostra." But their activities in narcotics, gambling, shylocking and prostitution are anything but kosher. The Israeli government has been quietly investigating their dark pasts. Most notorious of the lot is Meyer Lansky, the Mafia's "banker." But a host of lesser crime figures have also found asylum in Israel or are reportedly planning to shift their operation there. These include: Harry Stromberg, alias Nig Rosen, a onetime Philadelphia mobster identified in Senate hearings as "one of the biggest dope peddlers in the country"; Joe "Doc" Stacher, an underworld habitue, who was allowed to immigrate to Israel after his conviction on income tax charges; Morris Schmeltzer, alias Max Courtney, a former big-time gambler; Gamblers Al Mones, Hyman

"Hymie" Segal and Frank Ritter, alias Red Reed; Claude Lipsky, a French Jew wanted in France in connection with a real estate scandal.

Law of Return
Down through the centuries, following the destruction of the Jewish state in 70 A.D., the Jews scattered from Kal-feng to Kalamazoo. But always in their hearts remained a yearning for their Holy Places.

When the new Jewish state was proclaimed in 1948, therefore, its doors were thrown open to all returning Jews, and their right to remain was sanctified by the famous Law of Return.

Now the noble law, intended to guarantee a place for any homeless Jew, is being used by racketeers to create a criminal sanctuary.

Some Israeli authorities hold the Law of Return as sacred and are determined to preserve it no matter who may abuse it. But other officials, particularly in the Interior Ministry, want to block the influx of hoodlums.

Still other elements in Israel are willing to condone the criminal migration, because of the huge capital the hoods bring into the country.

Laundered Cash

This underworld boodle — much of it raised from nefarious enterprises in the U.S. — is "laundered" before it arrives in Israel. This is accomplished simply by funneling it through Swiss banks.

My associate, Les Whitten, has spent three weeks tracing ill-gotten U.S. dollars from Swiss to Israeli banks. He has spoken to top bankers in the U.S. and Switzerland.

We have also learned that the Justice Department is investigating how certain Swiss banks transfer underworld funds to Israel. We have obtained the names of four banks in Geneva and Zurich, with excellent worldwide reputations, which allegedly have served as conduits for underworld cash. But after talking to bank officers, we have decided there is not yet enough proof to justify naming them.

Meanwhile, the emotional battle over the Law of Return is agonizing Jews not only in Israel but in America. One, who has worked selflessly for the Jewish state since its inception, summed it up:

"Israel must decide whether it will be true to the principles of its founding fathers, who demanded that every Jew should have a homeland, or whether it should protect itself against criminal elements."

Washington Whirl

Background Briefings — Controversy is again raging over the government practice of putting out news in "background" briefings, where officials tell the press whatever they want without being quoted by name. With exquisite timing, the Interior Department has just decided to inaugurate a series of such "backgrounders." Hollis Dole, assistant secretary for mineral resources, will conduct the first one on January 19.

Such publicity articles should come as no surprise, because Interior is now being packaged and sold like soap flakes. The publicity staff, pretentiously called the "Office of Communications," has been doubled. Special assistants for magazine and television publicity have been hired. The only trouble is they don't know what to do, so they end up sending memos to other Interior officials suggesting what magazine articles to read and what TV programs to watch.

Political Game — Rep. William Anderson, the soft-spoken Tennessee Democrat who angered the Nixon Administration by discovering the Tiger Cages in Vietnam, has been officially announced a presidential candidate by the manufacturer of a new political game. The game, "The Next President," lists Anderson, however, as a Republican. Write Anderson, in a letter to the manufacturer: "On your profile chart you listed me as a Republican. Not only this but right next to Spiro Agnew! The results could be calamitous. My staff has grown mutinous, they threaten to resign."

Sweet Smell — The latest perfume to catch on with the worldly women of Washington is the French scent that won't be sold in this country until 1973. It's called "Liz" and sells for $15 for half an ounce. Costly or not, Pat Nixon, her daughter Tricia, and Muriel Humphrey all have some. Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis is reported to have bought 50 dollars of the stuff, presumably for Christmas gifts.

Connally in '76

WASHINGTON — In these days of political polemics, there are many aspirants for the Presidency on the Democratic side for the election in 1972, and presumably there are Republicans who are already thinking of preparing for 1976 in the event that President Nixon wins re-election next November.

The man who is beginning to be discussed as most likely to be a conspicuous figure in the battle for the 1976 Republican nomination for the Presidency is Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally, who, though a Democrat, is winning friends among Republicans every day. There have been rumors that, he might be given the vice-presidential nomination this time, but he could give the President more help by continuing in the cabinet. Certainly if President Nixon is elected to a second term and John Connally is as prominent as he has been, he will have many an opportunity to show the country he is qualified for the top job.

The talk about removing Vice President Agnew has simmered down. It never was, however, really centered on John Connally as a substitute. He is the kind of man President Nixon will want at his right hand in executive operations. Just as Connally has assisted him during his first term.

John Connally was a poor boy in Texas, but worked his way through the University of Texas, where he got a law degree. During World War II, he obtained a commission in the Navy and served in the Pacific. He finished with the rank of lieutenant commander. After the war, Connally practiced law in Austin, Texas. He then moved to Fort Worth and began managing the estates of oil, gas, ranching, manufacturing, retail sales and investments for a wealthy Texas oil man who had died. He was an administrative assistant to Senator Lyndon B. Johnson in 1949.

Mr. Connally was appointed by President Kennedy as Secretary of the Navy, and resigned to run for Governor of Texas in 1962. He was elected three times with an ever-increasing margin of the popular vote. He became a powerful figure in the Democratic party in Texas, and is believed to have succeeded even Lyndon Johnson in his influence with organization people and business interests there. He was riding in an automobile with President Kennedy when the latter was assassinated. Connally was seriously wounded and spent several weeks in the hospital.

After three terms as governor, Connally joined a law office in 1969. Then, when Nixon became President, he named Connally to a government commission which dealt with the program that the President had in mind for governmental reorganization. Connally proved effective as a member and very knowledgeable about government affairs. His executive ability was demonstrated during his terms as governor, as Secretary of the Navy and as a lawyer who managed a big estate.

President Nixon had been impressed with Connally. They had gotten to know each other well, and during Connally's tenure on the government commission they exchanged views often. Mr. Nixon sounded out Connally about becoming Treasury Secretary to succeed David Kennedy and he accepted, taking office Feb. 11, 1971. The President later spoke of Connally as the "Chief Economic Spokesman" of the administration. Many people have noted the way Connally has been handling himself in news conferences and how he has dealt with international bankers, finance ministers and members of Congress in getting things done.

Connally definitely has a political future. He presumably will not discuss what he intends to do except that he is certainly not going to seek the vice presidency in 1972 and doubtless is looking toward 1976 and thereafter for his political opportunities.

Connally will campaign for President Nixon in the 1972 election, and although still registered as a Democrat, he would become a Republican by reason of his efforts in the 1972 contest. This would make him eligible for consideration for the Presidency four years later. Indeed, if Mr. Nixon is re-elected, the years between 1972 and 1976 will furnish Connally a chance to show the country how he can handle national and international affairs, as he probably will continue to be one of the men close to President Nixon in those four years.

Mr. Connally now is 54 years old. He is popular with many Democrats, and is getting more and more acclaim daily from the Republican party. He is a natural for the Presidential nomination on the Republican ticket in 1976.

Secret Movie Called the $

Richard Brooks is so secretive that he wouldn't tell his wife, Jean Simmons, if he was pregnant. Richard writes well, and he directs motion pictures in the manner of a guru meditating on a nail in his foot. About two years ago, he read a newspaper story about gangsters skimming the cream from Las Vegas gambling.

It gave him an idea: What would happen if robbers stole from the skimmers? They could hardly go to the police. To get their ill-gotten gains back, they would be forced to re-steal the money. Vincent Coll, a lonely gangster of the 1930s, was possessed of the same notion. He stole from Dutch Schultz.

So the Dutchman arranged to have him sawed in half by machine guns while standing in a phone booth. This is what happens when thieves steal from thieves. Richard Brooks decided to write a story called "$," a complex caper in which Warren Beatty and that laughing rabbit Goldie Hawn, conspire to rifle safe-deposit boxes owned by felons, and make off with the contents.

Brooks also wanted to direct his story. So he met Mike Frankovich, a producer, in London, and whispered the secret story. Together, they talked Columbia Pictures into putting up $2,500,000 front money for the opera. They got the dough on their successful reputations, because Brooks would not tell his caper to anybody.

The two men searched all over Europe for a proper locale. Brooks appeared to be pained that no bank was willing to lend itself to a robbery of its vault. The Swiss, The Italians, the French and the Norwegians regarded the suggestion as an affront. Brooks located an art museum in Hamburg called Kunstalle. The directors thought it would be fun if their museum was converted into a bank for six weeks.

The set designers made a huge round bank vault which gleams like case-hardened steel as the door swings open, but is made of wood. Shooting started a year ago. German camera crews and sound units were used. The harbor boats whistled, snow fell, police cars raced through the streets, and "$" was on its way. Goldie Hawn arrived with her poodle, "Lamb Chop," and Warren Beatty arranged for his dear friend, Julie Christie, to visit him at the Atlantic Hotel.

It was a small crowd: 11½ people if you want to count Al Horwitz, Scott Brady, who plays a U.S. Army sergeant who sends heroin to the U.S. in Spaulding baseballs, acted his heart out. Miss Hawn, as a selective German prostitute, took a crash course in German and amazed the Hamburgians, who thought that her English was flawed.

Brooks would fall to sobbing if I told the plot. He was so damned secretive during the shooting that he wouldn't show more than two pages of script to Warren Beatty or Goldie Hawn. He fears that if actors know how the story comes out, they lose a smidge of spontaneity.

What Richard Brooks does best is his homework. He researches the smuggling of money and narcotics with the Secret Service, the F. B. I., the Customs agents, and the Los Angeles Police Department. Personally, he couldn't smuggle a peanut to a circus elephant.

He was cutting daily rushes in the cellar of the art museum when he leaned against a button. Bells rang all over the place, barred doors swung shut silently, and police cars came. When they saw an unknown middle-aged man in the cellar standing in canvas slacks and a floppy shirt, they murmured, "Gott mitt uns," and yanked him to the pokey.

Within 48 hours, Brooks was using the closed-circuit police department television as part of his story. Most of the cops understood no English but when they saw a title — "$" — they nodded happily. It's an international symbol.

The picture opened recently all over the United States. I am not a picture critic and have no aspirations in that direction. My wife and I saw a secret screening of Brooks' secret picture and it's the fastest thing since missiles. The action is so swift that most of the time I felt like hollering: "Wait just a darn minute until we find out who is chasing whom, and why."

It runs like a frightened burglar. This is another Brooks' trick to make the customers see it twice, so they will comprehend what they missed the first time.

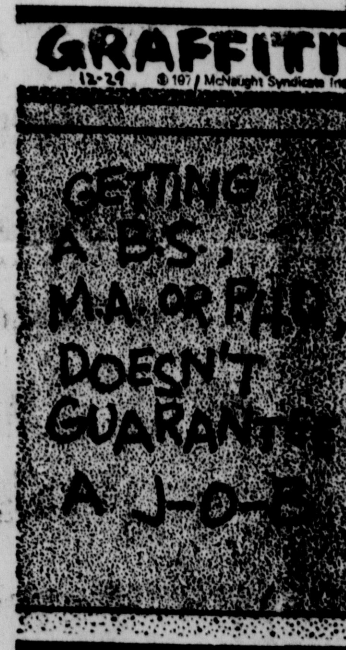

There is one secret he would like to keep, but I'm going to tell. He shot a long chase scene over an icy Norwegian lake at Lillehammer. In it, a crook on foot is chased by a crook in a car. The car falls through the ice and disappears. Brooks & Co. came home in July. Since then, the Lillehammer police have been sending a summons for overtime parking at the bottom of the lake.

Education Aid Postponement May Mean Permanent Change

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller's proposed "postponement" of $350 million in state educational aid payments to localities would mean a permanent change in the way schools are financed in New York State—not just a temporary change to help balance this fiscal year's budget.

"It just goes on and on until infinity, or until someone else gets a bright idea," a spokesman for the governor's budget division said.

He acknowledged that the proposal would be a permanent fixture of all future budgets, if enacted.

Some educators are saying that would create new difficulties for school districts in New York, particularly those that have low tax bases.

State Education Department officials say that the plan's principal effect would be to force localities to set aside some education funds to pay interest on the money they will have to borrow to tide them over until the state aid arrives.

Rockefeller proposed the payment-postponing plan as a quick way to cut $350 million out of this year's state budget deficit, which the governor says may run as high as $1 billion.

The postponement would be effected by rewriting the present schedule for aid payments so that school districts would receive 75 per cent—in- stead of the present 58 1/3 per cent—of their assistance in the last quarter of the school year.

That quarter—April, May and June—corresponds to the state fiscal year's first quarter.

For the wealthier school districts, which get most of their budget from local taxes collected in September or October, that will not be a great problem. Scarsdale, for example, spends about $2,000 per pupil, and only a small portion of that—36 per cent of the legally required minimum per-pupil allotment of $860—comes from the state.

But poorer districts get up to 90 per cent of their minimum budget from the state, and many of them spend no more than the state-required minimum of $860 per pupil.

For such districts, Rockefeller's plan would mean they would have to borrow virtually all the money they need to operate their schools up until April 15, when the first large state payment comes in.

The bill would retain the present schedule of payments in September, October and November of 8 1/3 per cent each month of each district's annual assistance. The payment of 25 per cent of the aid in April also would remain, along with no payments in March, July, August or December.

The crunch comes in the state fiscal year's last quarter and the schools' third—during which the districts now receive 16 2/3 of their annual pand would receive nothing under the proposal.

The poorest districts already have to borrow some money to keep going in the early months of the school year. The governor's plan would mean that as much as another 16.7 per cent of their annual aid allotment will be added to the money for which they already have to go to the banks.

Spokesmen for the State Education Department, the State School Boards Association and the comptroller's office agreed Tuesday that school districts are not likely to have trouble arranging the loans.

But the interest costs would be noticeable.

If school districts have to borrow all of this year's planned postponement of $350 million on a typical 3 1/2 per cent 90-day revenue anticipation note, interest for this year alone would total $12.25 million, according to estimates by the School Boards Association.

Transit Fare Increase... ...Now Stalled in Albany

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Action to hold the increase in New York City subway and bus fares to 5 cents is stalled behind Gov. Rockefeller's tax vehicle.

With Republicans and Democrats haggling over how much they can support of the governor's tax and pruning prescription for state solvency, Rockefeller's measures guaranteeing transit fares at 35 cents for the next two years and holding the increase in commuter train fares to 20 per cent wait their turn.

The situation, which gives Rockefeller a potential weapon to line up Democrats behind some version of his tax package, has the Democrats in an unhappy frame of mind.

"There's no connection," Assemblyman Alexander Channau, D-Bronx, the ranking minority member of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee told newsmen Tuesday. "One is not dependent on the other."

But because of the timing and the fact that the fare plan is dependent on inclusion of a $100 million state loan to the Transit Authority, which runs city transit, it is clear that taxes and fares are inextricably bound.

Assembly Minority Leader Stanley Steingut illustrated the Democrats' dilemma when he said that party legislators had discussed the implied dependency of the fare plan on the tax package.

"A lot of them were resentful," he said, "and they said they wouldn't be blackmailed."

Also said there was a feeling that the governor had changed the transit plan.

Some Democrats are unhappy with the scheme to hold the fare to 35 cents. Manhattan Assemblyman Richard N. Gottfried denounced it as a dangerous, irresponsible dodge that will guarantee even higher fares in the very near future.

"The only realistic approach is to adopt a permanent system of subsidizing mass transit all over the state," he declared.

However, Mayor John V. Lindsay has joined Rockefeller and Metropolitan Transportation Authority Chairman

William J. Ronan in backing the 35-cent fare plan.

Rockefeller's proposals provide for speeded-up transfer of surpluses from the Triborough Bridge and Tunnel Authority to the parent MTA, authorization for a city loan of $100 million to the MTA's Transit Authority subsidiary and the state loan in lieu of federal aid to the transit system.

With the transportation plan waiting on disposal of the state fiscal package, the governor presumably also has a persuader with Long Island and Westchester legislators, mostly Republicans, who might be inclined to support some version of the $427 million in proposed taxes because they represent commuters on MTA railroads.

Indictments Dropped In Snow Removal Case

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Indictments against two more persons charged in connection with snow removal operations in Albany two years ago have been dismissed.

Surrogate Judge John McCall, acting in County Court, Tuesday threw out the indictments against Frederick and Margaret Avant, owners of an Albany tree nursery service, on the grounds that grand jury testimony leading to the charges was obtained unconstitutionally.

The Avants were charged last May with filing false instruments in the amount of some $64,000 in bills for snow removal during the winter of 1969-70. They were one of several contractors indicted after an investigation by Albany County District Attorney Arnold W. Proskin.

The Avants' attorney held that because they were compelled to testify before the grand jury to risk losing the right to do business with the city and county they were deprived of their constitutional right not to incriminate themselves.

Proskin said he did not know what his next step would be.

The decision was the latest in a series of reversals Proskin has encountered in his probe of the snow-removal operations.

McCall previously ruled that the grand jury conducting the investigation had been without power to do so for several months because of a technical failure to extend its term.

Indictments against two city aldermen also have been dismissed and a court battle is still underway concerning access to grand jury testimony.

Controversy to Appeals Court

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A clerks, saying the blue laws of suburban Albany department store has been given permission to bypass the Appellate Division of State Supreme Court and go directly to the New York State Court of Appeals with its challenge to the state's Sunday "blue laws."

Judge Francis S. Bergan agreed Tuesday that the Court of Appeals would hear the case brought by Weston's, a suburban Lakemore store where two clerks were charged in 1970 with violating the Sunday-closing laws.

Columbia Town Justice Frank Tate dismissed the original blue laws case will be complaints against the two heard.

U.S. Judge Dismisses Suit Filed by Father Daniel Berrigan

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI)—A U.S. judge dismissed Tuesday a suit filed by antiwar priest Daniel Berrigan and 10 other inmates at the Danbury federal prison who charged their constitutional rights were violated by prison officials in a hunger strike.

"Without speculating about the plaintiffs' motives, the prison authorities could not sit idly by while the plaintiffs, in a headlong rush toward martyrdom, revelled in their self-inflicted risk to their health," Chief U.S. District Court Judge M. Joseph Blumenfeld said in a 32-page memorandum of decision which rejected the prisoners' suit.

The inmates claimed their rights were violated as a result of their four-week hunger strike that began Aug. 6.

The numerous complaints filed by the plaintiffs were lumped into three categories by Blumenfeld. In two of them, the judge said prison officials acted illegally in the transfer of the inmates to another prison after the hunger strike and he upheld the U.S. Board of Parole in the decision of parole already granted two of the hunger strike participants.

In the other category that concerned the placement of the inmates in segregated confinement and the withholding of good time, Blumenfeld dismissed the charges outright, stating the plaintiffs failed to exhaust all administrative remedies.

The inmates said they staged a work stoppage, the hunger strike and handed out leaflets to dramatize their plight as "political prisoners" to protest the parole system and the U.S. involvement in Vietnam. Berrigan and his brother, the Rev. Philip Berrigan, are serving sentences at Danbury for burning draft board records.

Daniel Berrigan was denied parole last July from a three-year sentence but was granted a new hearing, scheduled for Jan. 26. The parole board's announcement Dec. 20 said it was reconsidering Daniel Berrigan's case based on "new information," including the priest's ill health.

Four days after the work stoppage and hunger strike began, the 11 inmates were placed in segregated confinement. The next day, they were transferred temporarily to the Springfield Medical Center for federal prisoners in Missouri.

The inmates claimed their rights were violated as a result of their four-week hunger strike that began Aug. 6.

Governor's Plans Dead

meanwhile, to be used if the increased federal aid relied on by the governor is not forthcoming.

Each of the proposals varied from the governor's package, which relies on a $400-million increase in federal aid, tax increases, state-aid deferrals and a spending freeze.

But it was the governor's reliance on congressional approval of increased federal revenue sharing that drew criticism from Republicans in both houses.

Willis Stephens, chairman of the Republican-controlled Assembly Ways and Means Committee, said it would be a "grave error" to depend too heavily on increased federal aid.

Moreover, he said, the governor may have overestimated revenues from the current tax structure by "as much as $350 million."

Stephens issued a staff report calling for a five-year fiscal plan. This approach was pegged to an average rise in state expenditures of 4.2 per cent a year.

Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea endorsed the fiscal committee's report, saying that "short-range solutions no longer meet the needs of the Empire State."

Democrats reintroduced bills to enact a "five-year" plan sought by them in previous sessions of the legislature. Assembly Minority Leader Stanley Steingut said at a press conference.

The contingency tax plan considered by some senators had a switch-like character. The taxes could be switched "on" at a certain date if the federal government did not increase its share of aid to New York.

The governor has said he would like the proposed 5 per cent income tax surcharge to take effect by Jan. 1 to reap its full benefit.

Steingut, asked if Democrats would accept a smaller surcharge than proposed by Rockefeller, replied:

"I don't want to appear inflexible. I believe there is room for a comprehensive change in this plan so that the burden is not thrust on the working and poor working man in this state."

He said he may meet with the governor for "peripheral" discussion about the final nature of the tax package.

Rockefeller has also pointed out that certain state-aid payments are due early in the year unless the legislature postpones the dates under his proposals.

Swiss Won't Extradite Timothy Leary

BERN, Switzerland (UPI)—Switzerland will not extradite Timothy Leary, America's "high priest of LSD," to the United States to complete his California jail term for possession of marijuana, the police and justice ministry announced today.

At the same time the announcement said Leary will not receive political asylum.

Ministry officials said it will now be up to immigration officials to decide whether Leary can continue living in Switzerland.

Leary was not immediately available for comment but his lawyer, Dr. Horace Mastronardi, said he was "very satisfied with the decision."

Mastronardi said it was unlikely immigration officials would force Leary to leave the country since the government has denied the official U.S. request for his extradition.

The announcement said the ministry refused to order Leary's extradition because the request contained formal errors which could not be corrected.

It also denied Leary's plea for asylum because his "political persecution can not be considered credible," the announcement said.

It also said Leary has already been granted asylum in Algeria, where he fled after escaping from California's Chino Prison in September, 1970.

Leary, now 51, arrived here with his wife, Rosemary, on June 21, from Algeria, and rented a chalet in the western Swiss Alpine resort of Villars-sur-Ollon.

Swiss police arrested him there in early July at the request of the U.S. embassy and detained him briefly in the "Bois-Mermet" prison in Lausanne.

He was released on bail pending the government's ruling on both his request for exile and the U.S. extradition plea.

Britain Plans Withdrawal of Malta Troops
LONDON (UPI) — Britain is preparing to withdraw all British troops from the Mediterranean island of Malta, the Foreign Office announced today.

It said the government decided on this action after Maltese Prime Minister Dom Mintoff, in a new message to the Foreign Office received today, demanded immediate payment of $11 million for the right to station British forces on the island.

German Police Catch Robbers
SAARBRUECKEN, Germany (UPI) — Police caught up today with three wanted bank robbers, fatally shooting one and capturing the other two, in a gunfight near this city in southwest Germany, a police spokesman said.

The three men had been the subject of an extensive search since Monday when they robbed a Cologne bank of nearly $100,000 in marks and then took two police officers as hostages when they made their escape.

The spokesman said the shooting took place at the village of Baltesweiler, about 35 miles northeast of Saarbruecken.

More than 500 police officers had taken part in the manhunt after the two police hostages were released following a 125-mile chase through West Germany's Rhineland and the three robbers vanished by foot into Kinkel forest.

Seoul Hotel Death Toll Still Rising
SEOUL (UPI) — The death toll in history's worst hotel fire continued to rise today, with search crews bringing new bodies out from the wreckage of the 22-story Taeyongak Hotel.

Five bodies found by crews brought the total of known dead to 164.

At the same time, police said they arrested two more hotel officials and charged them with responsibility in the fire. Another eight persons — including hotel employees and municipal officials — were arrested earlier.

The two men arrested were gas pipe engineers.

Lew's Delicatessen Destroyed by Fire

PORT EWEN — A major fire that broke out shortly before noon today has virtually destroyed Lew's Delicatessen and Catering Service on Broadway in this village.

The business is owned and operated by Legislator Louis Kirchner.

Three apartments, located above the store, also were badly damaged. The Town Cleaners, next door to the delicatessen, was still intact. Most of the contents of the store had been removed, however.

The fire apparently was set off when a French fryer in the store reportedly blew up. Earlier, the owner had put out a small fire in the deep fryer, it was noted.

Truck No. 2 from Kingston was called to the scene as well as two trucks from the Port Ewen Fire Co.

Ailing Seaman Is Aided by Coast Guard
NEW YORK (UPI) — An ailing seaman aboard a Polish fishing vessel 25 miles off the coast of New York was taken to a Staten Island hospital by the Coast Guard Tuesday.

The Coast Guard said it received a message from the vessel, part of the Communist fishing fleet, that it had a sick man on board suffering from gall bladder inflammation.

The cutter Cape Strait rendezvoused with the Lacerat, a 285-foot factory vessel, about 25 miles southeast of New York City.

A Coast Guard helicopter airlifted the man from the cutter to Staten Island, where he was driven by ambulance to Public Health Service Hospital. The seaman was identified as Wladyslaw Szulc, 49.

Poughkeepsie Firemen Fight City Hall Blaze
POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (UPI) — City firemen Tuesday night hurried to their future home in the yet-unoccupied city hall to battle flames which destroyed nine rolls of carpeting.

The two million dollar building, under construction for about two years, is being prepared to open in March. It will house the Poughkeepsie fire and police departments and all other city offices.

The blaze filled the structure with smoke, but officials said damage was minor and no injuries resulted. The exact cause was undetermined.

Another Bogus Bill Discovered
KINGSTON — Detectives today reported another counterfeit $10 bill had been turned over to authorities by the Hudson Valley Federal Savings and Loan Association, 235 Fair Street, for investigation.

It was reported that the phony bill was of the 1963-A series. Several counterfeit bills of that series previously had been circulated in this area prior to Christmas. Those bills were given to the detectives for study.

The bogus bill that was discovered Tuesday had a numeral that began with the B-51-series and ended with H.

Police Chief Wins Right To Join PBA

ORISKANY, N.Y. (AP) — Police Chief Robert Callahan of this Oneida County village has won the right to join a Patrolmen's Benevolent Association (PBA) local and participate in collective bargaining with the village board.

Police chiefs in most localities in New York State are considered supervisory personnel excluded from collective bargaining.

But in a ruling that Callahan's lawyer said could have implications in other small villages, the state Public Employment Relations Board ruled this week that Callahan is a working foreman, not a supervisor.

Callahan is the only full-time employee of the police department here.

Two part-time employees will be the other members of the new PBA local.

World Attention to Asia Seen Shifting Northward

WASHINGTON (AP) — World attention to Asia, dominated in recent years by events in Vietnam and other areas of the Southeast, will shift northward next year to China, Japan and Korea, predicts the State Department's top Asian expert.

"It is a period of change," said Marshall Green, assistant secretary of state for East Asian and Pacific Affairs, in an interview.

He pointed to decreasing U.S. involvement in Vietnam, President Nixon's scheduled meeting with Japanese Prime Minister Eisaku Sato next month in San Clemente, Calif., and Nixon's forthcoming trip to China as example of the change.

Northeast Asia is of paramount concern, Green said, because the interests of Communist China, the Soviet Union, Japan and the United States converge there.

China has major foreign affairs problems with the Soviet Union, Taiwan and Japan, he said.

The Soviet Union has an increasing interest in developing Siberia and has been increasing its troop deployments there. Also, because of border differences, Moscow's principal foreign policy concern may be China itself.

For Japan, Northeast Asia is of major concern in all respects. And, the United States has security commitments to Japan, South Korea and Nationalist China in this region.

Korea, the scene of one major war, is in the geographic center of these major power concerns. And there are interesting signs of talks between North and South Korea through the Red Cross though the significance of the meetings so far is hard to discern, Green said.

In China there have been signs of increasing moderation since the Cultural Revolution ended, he said. There has been greater interest in international affairs.

Nevertheless, Green said, there still is much hostility toward the United States in Peking, Moscow and other Communist countries and China probably will continue its efforts to drive a wedge between the United States and Japan.

Despite the "Nixon shocks" of 1971 when Japan was not consulted in advance on the Peking trip announcement or new American economic policy, Green said he believes "our relations with Japan are on a healthier basis today than one year ago when there were problems we had not addressed."

Green said U.S. allies in Asia have "publicly, and I think to a large extent privately," welcomed President Nixon's move toward China. But they are uneasy and this is true of a number of questions.

There is concern among Asian allies, he said, about the U.S. foreign program and whether there will be adequate economic and military assistance and there is interest in improving relations with Pe-down the war." Green said. "At the same time we want to leave the Vietnamese people in a position to 'hack it'."

Since Nixon took office in 1969, he noted, the United States has withdrawn almost 450,000 men from Asia.

"Most of them were from Vietnam but more than 50,000 were in Thailand, South Korea, Japan and the Philippines," he said.

"The decreased U.S. pressure in the areas adjoining mainland China had another important by-product—improving the climate for talks with China. Most importantly, the United States has moved from a position of over-involvement while at the same time avoiding a tendency to move too rapidly in a very hasty withdrawal," Green said.

Signs Point To Winter In Israel

TEL AVIV (UPI) — No matter if it's 70 degrees and sunny, when the army soldierettes forsake their cotton miniskirts for the woolen models, you know winter has arrived in Israel.

No longer does the street vendor's bell signal the approach of the ice cream wagon. Rather it calls housewives out to replenish their kerosene supplies against the coming cold.

The change in seasons this year brings with it a change in the national mood. An air of apprehension has settled over Israel after almost 17 months of cease-fire.

Openly but without fanfare, the leadership is preparing the nation's three million citizens for the likelihood that Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's decision in this "year of decision" will be to wage war.

Special Emphasis

Special emphasis is placed on conditioning population centers such as Tel Aviv, where the citizenry has been spared the rigors of combat through two wars since the 1948 war of independence.

The first nationwide test of the air raid siren network since the 1967 war followed Sadat's pronouncement in November that the only choice left to him is battle.

Sirens wail regional mock air raid warnings—today in the south, tomorrow in the north, the next day in a Tel Aviv suburb. Shelters are unlocked, cleaned of the litter of years of idleness and prepared for use.

Men, women and children race into the bunkers as civil defense workers don helmets to practice cleaning up debris dumped into the streets as if there really had been bombs.

The drills indicate the seriousness attached by Israel to Arab newspaper reports that one of Egypt's aims in a new war will be to terrorize Israeli population centers.

The nation's press warns of the nearness of war and announces in banner headlines the fact that Egypt now has planes capable of firing missiles at Israeli cities from 100 miles away.

Li Gen. Haim bar-Lev, the armed forces chief of staff, warns Egypt not to hit civilian targets, Israel, he says, will hit back in kind, only harder.

One official contends Israel will say "no, no, no and no again to any attempts to get us to sacrifice our security in order to appease Egypt, even at the risk of another war. Maybe another defeat would convince Sadat he cannot dictate settlement terms to us."

Amid it all, the Tourism Ministry reports 30,000 Christian pilgrims flocked to the Holy Land to celebrate the anniversary of the birth of Jesus.

1971 Seal Campaign Approaching $55,000

KINGSTON — Our 1971 Christmas Seal Campaign is approaching the $55,000.00 mark, an exceptionally good return as of this date," according to 1971 Ulster area Christmas Seal Chairman, Miss Rose Marie Feeney, R. N. of Kingston.

Currently, there are many of our loyal Christmas Seal contributors from whom we've not heard, and we've just mailed to them the usual small notice as a friendly reminder," she explained. "We've managed thus far to achieve an approximate $4,000 advance on last year's Christmas Seal endeavor, and with 1972 their support now to speed the Christmas Seal Health program onward to its goal."

Miss Feeney serves with Dr. Barbara Vosburgh, Coxsackie, of the Greene area, and Dr. Harry Golembe, Liberty, of the Sullivan area, in leadership of the campaign for the Catskill Region TB-RD Christmas Seal group. Miss Feeney urges all Ulster area Christmas Seal friends to add their continued support to the TB-RD health program needs.

Series Tells Story of China

A significant series, carefully researched and authentically illustrated, will start in The Sunday Freeman on Jan. 2. CHINA: ONE-FOURTH OF MANKIND explores the 4,000-year history of China, its people, its culture, its mysteries. Writer Don Oakley and Artist John Lane teamed up to present this probing series. Watch for CHINA: ONE-FOURTH OF MANKIND starting Jan. 2 in The Sunday Freeman.

Pointing out the greatly increased problems of so many of the respiratory problems such as emphysema, chronic bronchitis and asthma, she said that "the work in the contagious respiratory disease, tuberculosis, is still an important concern requiring our constant attention."

The latest figures now available show 1970 new active TB cases in New York State at 3,865 with a total of 575 tuberculosis deaths that same year. "We ask that our Ulster area people help us in this major and difficult task to control and reduce these serious chest problems and thus to help avoid suffering, disability and death."

The annual Christmas Seal campaign has its peak during the holiday period, and will terminate officially March 31. Christmas Seal Headquarters are the office of the Catskill Region TB-RD Association, at 124 Green Street, Kingston.

Get The Best Beef?

Believe it or not, there are some people who think the quality of our beef varies from store-to-store.

It's not true!

Every one of our Meat Departments offers the same high-quality beef, the only quality we sell... "SUPER-RIGHT" Quality.

Our quality specifications for "SUPER-RIGHT" Beef

are so high that some beef graded "Choice"

This one "high quality" policy for all stores applies to all the meats we sell

It is true, that where customer demand calls for it,

you will find thicker steaks, double lamb chops, etc.,

but they are all cut from the same quality meat that is available in every A&P Meat Department.

After all, to satisfy customer demand is just plain good business

One other thing we want you to know.

No matter where you live, if you want that thick steak, double lamb chop or any cut you don't see in the case, just ask for it.

WE CARE about, and want to satisfy, every customer...

and we mean every customer.

'Cosmic Spectrum' Slated New Year's Eve

Rahila Devi, (Mrs. Rahila McKee), who teaches Yoga in Kingston and for New Paltz University's Continuing Education Department, will present a demonstration entitled "Cosmic Spectrum" on New Year's Eve at St. Gregory's Episcopal Church, Route 212, Woodstock.

"Turning-In" to the Divine Consciousness, she will enact a series of improvisations (based on requests from the audience) to illustrate through Dance, Drama, Mime and Mantra, the meaning of words and concepts to reveal the vibration emanating from all persons and things, and above all to show that all Phenomenal Manifestations radiate from One Source.

She will also tune-in to the vibrations of one of two volunteers from the audience, extracting the essence of their personalities, and suggesting remedial measures where necessary. Characters from the pages of past and present history may also be portrayed as the vibrations of every soul have been "Video-taped" on the Akashic Records.

For the last part of the programme, Rahila Devi will involve the audience in group meditation as she did on December 3rd in New Paltz University, the audience expressing through chanting and dance the flow of Divine Forces. Some of the evening's meditation will be directed towards the flowering of World Peace.

The programme will commence at 8:30 p.m.

Those attending are asked to bring some refreshment so that a New Year's Eve party can follow "Cosmic Spectrum".

Household Ecology
You can create change... be aware... be informed... be involved... be persistent, says Phyllis W. Barlow, Extension Home Economist.

Households are very much a part of a larger ecological system, creating a significant contribution to the solid waste, water, air, pollution, noise. Do your part to ease the pollution problems, follow the guidelines listed below.

"If you're not part of the solution, you're not part of the problem."

- Don't put heavy paper, tissues, rags, disposable diapers, grease, solvents, medicines or other chemicals into toilets and sinks. These substances reduce the effectiveness of your community's sewage treatment facilities or your septic tank.
- Reduce your use of fertilizers and herbicides (weed killers) on your lawns. The runoff and seepage of these chemical following rains pollute our streams and drinking water.
- Technically it is possible and economically it is increasingly advantageous to Recover, Recycle and Reuse what we now extravagantly bury or burn as waste. Promote and support federal and state legislation and programs which implement the new "3 R's."

- We throw away 74 billion cans and bottle each year in the United States. Buy soft drinks, beer and milk in returnable bottles. Beverages in returnable bottles are cheaper and they don't add to the solid waste problem if you return them.
- Reduce your use of all plastics. Use waxpaper and cellophane instead of plastics and aluminum wrap. Complain to store managers if produce is unnecessarily wrapped in plastic.
- Buy products without excessive packaging — you pay for the layers of wrappings and their ultimate disposal.
- Take reusable shopping bags to stores. Clerks automatically bag every little purchase. Tell them, "No, thank you!" If the store's security system is based on bags, complain to the manager.
- Use cloth towels and napkins instead of paper ones, china cups and glasses in place of paper and plastic.
- Pressure for higher postal rates on junk mail: Stuff the advertising material back in the postage-paid envelope and return it to the sender.
- Encourage a Boy Scout troop or other service organization to collect bottles and aluminum cans for resale as scrap.

Part-Time Woman Says: 'Harmless Fun'

DEAR ABBY: I enjoyed the letter from "Still in Shock in California," and your reply.

I am a transvestite, and it is harmless fun. There are thousands of men who enjoy occasionally dressing as a woman and going out for the evening. Most are good husbands, fathers, workers and producers. In many cases, their wives encourage them, and assist in this activity.

I often assume the role of a woman on weekends and in the evening hours. Dressed as a woman, I attend concerts, art shows and lectures. I go shopping and dine out — and always in the company of my wife, who doesn't object one bit. We do not attract attention, and we mind our own business.

Nobody seems to mind. Do you?

as being persecuted by her family, asked for your views on the matter. I want to thank you for saying, "I think everyone should be allowed to serve God in his own way."

I have a quotation by Theodore White which may encourage her (and all the world): "To go against the dominant thinking of your friends, of most of the people you see every day, is perhaps the most difficult act of heroism you can perform."

Abby, isn't it an outrage that in this so-called "free country," one must be a "hero" to believe freely? Your truly.

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE
DEAR FOLKS:
I have been testing different kinds of philodendron, the velvet-leaved and the slick-leaved—and I have decided definitely that the slick leaf is twice as easy to grow.

I have also learned that these plants can be over watered!

Never, never, overwater a plant that is growing in soil or on a pole. It is best to wait until that dirt or soil gets bone dry. A good way to test is to put your finger on the soil and if it's the least bit moist, do not water. I have found (after testing some plants as much as four years) that once the soil is completely bone dry, you should flood it and forget it for a week or so.

take an ice pick and punch holes in the bottom of it, then set it in another pot. Water only when your plant is dry, and watch for prettier, healthier-looking philodendron.

HELOISE

Letter of Thought
DEAR HELOISE:
This is just a little thought for parents.

When you're upset about things your little ones get into during the day, just think you'll have a lot to talk about with other mothers while waiting in the doctor's office, at meetings, etc. Things that seem so bad at the time are the very things everyone finds so funny and cute when related to a later date.

MRS. G. BOWENS

This varies in different people's homes because of humidity, air-conditioning, heating systems, etc.

But when you see the leaves starting to turn yellow, the most probable cause is overwatering.

Sometimes we plant ivy in a pot that does not have a drain hole in the bottom. Water then collects and will cause a sour smell at the bottom.

So if your plan is in a container (especially plastic)

My mother was always breaking her key chains until the other day. She came up with the greatest idea.

She found that a metal self-closing shower hook worked just great for a key chain.

The keys won't fall off it's practically unbreakable. It's just the greatest! Besides that, they are only five cents apiece!

BUFFET ELEGANCE . . . is created with Chicken Champagne served with hot rice and green salad with lemon dressing. Hot foods keep warm on the buffet table since they're served in chafing dishes. A Sterno flame provides the right degree of heat to keep delicious foods piping hot and ready to serve any time.

Perfect Large Crowd Buffet For New Year's Entertaining

It's easy to serve a hot buffet dinner and keep it hot all evening — even dinner for a crowd on New Year's Eve. How? With chafing dish cookery that keeps dishes piping hot right at the buffet table.

A dinner to satisfy a large crowd works more smoothly when the tasks are shared — so both the host and hostess can work together to create a superb feast for special friends.

This menu is a truly exciting one: Crab-Stuffed Avocados, Chicken Champagne, Hot Cooked Rice, Green Salad with Lemon Dressing, Champagne and Flaming Peaches. It tastes good even before you start.

Chicken Champagne, is a creamed dish made with large chicken pieces, subtly flavored with champagne, and covered with a creamy sauce. The sauce is a blend of champagne, sour cream and egg yolks. Tiny veal meatballs are the delicious surprise in this chicken dish. After the chicken has been cooked, then simmered in champagne, it is placed in a chafing dish — in the blazer pan over a bain Marie, which holds about one or two inches of water for a double boiler effect.

Here, the creamy sauce is prepared with the chicken, and is kept simmering over the low heat of a Sterno flame. Sterno canned heat is completely odorless and smokeless, and provides just the right degree of heat. Chafing dish liquid fuel can be used in holders designed for liquid fuel.

A dessert of Flaming Peaches provides a dramatic way to crown the meal. A superb dish, its made with canned peaches cooked in a chafing dish with a mixture of corn syrup and lemon rind. Bourbon is sprinkled over the peaches, then ignited, producing a flaming spectacular. When the flame burns out, the Flaming Peaches are served with vanilla ice cream and topped with pecans. It's an exciting dessert to prepare, yet it takes only about 10 minutes.

Chicken Champagne

Six large whole broiler-fryer chicken breasts, boned and halved
One-half cup flour
Two tablespoons butter or margarine
One-quarter cup salad oil
One-half cup finely chopped onion
Three cups dry champagne or chicken broth
One tablespoon salt
One-quarter teaspoon white pepper
One pint (Two cups) sour cream
Four egg yolks, beaten
Veal Meatballs*
One-half cup finely chopped parsley
Hot cooked rice.

Dust chicken with flour by placing flour in paper bag, adding chicken, a few pieces at a time, and shaking until coated. In large skillet heat butter and oil; add onions and chicken, skin side down first; cook until both are golden brown, turning chicken once. Add champagne, salt and pepper; cover and simmer 15 minutes or until chicken is tender. Remove chicken to large blazer over bain Marie over low Sterno flame; keep warm. Stir sour cream into champagne mixture. Remove some of sour cream mixture and stir into the beaten egg yolks; stir into remaining sour cream mixture in skillet and stir over low heat until thickened slightly, being careful not to let it boil. Add Veal Meatballs*. Spoon mixture over chicken in chafing dish; cover and keep warm over low Sterno flame until ready to serve. Keep cooked rice warm in another chafing dish (over bain Marie) over low Sterno flame. Sprinkle chicken with parsley just before serving. Serve chicken over the hot rice.

YIELD: 12 servings.

Veal Meatballs

One pound ground veal
Two tablespoons chopped parsley
One Teaspoon salt
Two eggs, beaten
One-half cup coarsely shredded pared apple
In medium bowl mix together the veal, parsley, salt, eggs and apple. Shape mixture into about 48 three-quarter-inch meatballs. Place meatballs in two greased shallow 13 x nine by two-inch baking pans. Bake in 350 degree F. oven for 20 minutes. Remove from pans and cool on paper towels.

Tights Are Part of the Winter Scene

Little girls and big ones, too, look fetching in leghugging tights. Choice of colors and patterns is almost limitless. For long wear and good fit it is important to put tights on properly and to wash them promptly after each wearing.

Children especially have a tendency to poke their feet in at the top and expect somehow to wriggle their toes downward. This is very hard on the material. With a little practice, even youngsters can put on their tights the right way.

Put tights on one leg at a time, gathering the material down to the foot before inserting toe and heel. Pull up from ankle until foot fits properly. Continue working the leg portion up until evenly stretched over the entire leg. Repeat with the other leg. Insert hands, palms toward body, into gathered panty section. Holding hands away from body, spread panty section evenly at waist. In removing the garment, ease the material down from waist to ankles and then pull gently on toe portion to slip feet out.

If washed by machine, it is wise to place tights in a mesh bag to prevent tangling. Always use warm sudsy water. When washed by hand, gently squeeze suds through the material several times. Pay particular attention to soil spots. Rinse carefully, blot excess moisture in a clean towel and hang by the waist to dry.

Prompt needle and thread attention to small snags or tears will add extra life to tights. It also helps to buy two pairs in the same style and color. Then, when one leg on each pair "goes" it is possible to fashion a wearable pair from the two by cutting the bad leg section off one pair and the good leg from the other. Carefully roll and stitch the raw edges. Attach the good leg to the panty and leg overlapping the edges and stitching securely in place. Another method is to cut the bad leg off each just below the panty section and wear both one-leg garments as one. This means you'll be wearing two panty sections: if both legs that had to be cut off were right legs, turn one of the remaining left legs inside out to make a right leg and put that leg on first. Any protruding seams in the panty section will be flattened by the second panty attached to the left leg.

Statesmen Win Consolation Thriller

Germantown Routs OCS for Coleman Title

THE WINNER—Coleman's Mark Weber (42) puts up a short jumper from the baseline with 16 seconds remaining in the overtime period of Tuesday's Holiday Tournament consolation game. The shot connected to give the Statesmen a 60-50 lead which they eventually turned into a 62-59 win. In on the action are St. Patrick's Bernie Skelly (35) and Brian Byrne (21) and St. Coleman's John Guess (50). (Freeman photo by Haines)

As South Trims North, 9-0

Ken Jr. Came Close

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—Ken Kavanaugh Jr. did not receive the honor his father did in the Blue-Gray football game, but he came close Tuesday night as the South downed the North 9-0.

The 6-2, 195-pound tight end from Louisiana State caught five passes for 93 yards, helping set up both Gray scores in the 34th annual charity game. He was named the South's most valuable offensive player.

He followed in the footsteps of his father who also played end at LSU and played for the South in the 1939 Blue-Gray game. However, the elder Kavanaugh caught two touchdowns passes that year and was named the game's Most Valuable Player.

Kavanaugh Jr. missed the 1971 Most Valuable Player award by only one vote with the honor going to Guy Roberts, a 225-pound defensive end from Maryland who was also named the South's best defensive player.

Roberts' strong line play was a major factor in limiting North quarterbacks Neil Graff of Wisconsin and Gary Fox of Wyoming to only 13 yards in the air. Roberts had six solo tackles and two assists.

Alan Thompson of Wisconsin picked up 56 of the North's 61 rushing yards and was named most valuable offensive player for the Blues. Mike Perfetti of Minnesota picked off a pass by TCU's Steve Judy and was in on nine tackles to take defensive honors for the North.

It was a defensive show all the way with the North failing time and again to move the ball and the South having only one long sustained drive. That came late in the first quarter when Judy drove the Grays 74 yards, passing to Kavanaugh and handing off to Stahl Vincent of Rice and Art Cantrell of LSU. Vincent got the only six-pointer of the night on the opening play of the second quarter, running it over from the seven. He led the South rushers with 78 yards on 21 carries.

The South got its final three points late in the final quarter after a 45-yard pass from Judy to Kavanaugh set up a 19-yard field goal by Tennessee's George Hunt.

The second and third quarters featured a punting duel between Hunt, who only did place kicking at Tennessee, and Perfetti. Hunt kicked five for a 43-yard average, while Perfetti had a 41.1 average on seven booms.

A crowd of 24,000 watched the game in Montgomery's Crumpton Bowl. The game was also shown over some 125 television stations throughout the country.

And that's the way it stayed for the first half with the Indians in the contest despite their shooting woes. But at the start of the second half, Ontario Coach Ron Pape pulled out Chepeleff and Wolf in favor of the smaller Bruce Hurley and George Woerthman to get some speed at the expense of the boards. Nothing, however, was to get the ball in the Ontario basket.

In the end, most court side observers felt it was Westervelt, not Pratt, who made Germantown go. He was the man in control of the Clipper attack and when he was on the bench there was a certain something missing.

And about that consolation game. Wouldn't you figure it to have been an utter rout? It should have been. Coleman had all the right combinations to beat a winless St. Patrick's team. Or so it seemed.

The Emerald Knights led 12-4 after two and a half minutes and 20-10 at the quarter. Why? Well that may have been what Statesman Coach Bill DuBois was wondering too, but it all came down to 6-2 soph Bernie Skelly, who was getting every rebound in the immediate area of the hoop, and Tim Gallagher, who went on a hot spree.

Coleman Sluggish
Coleman, meanwhile, was sluggish. The host team had expected to meet Ontario in the finals of its own event and may not have been up for a consolation battle against the seemingly easy team from Catskill.

But when St. Pat's still had a lead (34-25) at halftime, Coleman knew it had better start playing ball.

So, the Statesmen cut the margin to five, 48-41, at the three quarter mark and finally pulled ahead on Tim Mahoney's jump 54-52, with 1:42 to go in the fourth quarter.

Baskets by John Campisi and Bryan Byrne, the latter with 11 seconds remaining, brought the Knights back and sent the game into an extra period. And what a three-minute session that was!

Two free throws by Mark Weber put Coleman up but Campisi quickly scored to tie the game. Then with 50 seconds left Byrne hit one foul shot to make it 59-58 St. Pat's. There was no further scoring for the host line where Coleman kept giving St. Pat's the chance to win. But the Knights kept missing, three times in fact on one and ones, and finally the Statesmen realized that they wouldn't get many more breaks so Weber canned a short one from the baseline to put Coleman up, 60-59.

It still wasn't over. Skelly had a chance to win with five seconds to go, but his shot hit the rim and Kevin Matthews came back to give Coleman a layup at the buzzer for the three-point margin.

Whew! Phil Palladino, who fouled out in the fourth quarter, led the winners with 21 points. Gallagher had 18 for St. Pat's.

"We didn't deserve to win it," Coach DuBois said later. He was right.

REBOUNDS—Twelve players were named to the all-star team for the tourney by a vote of coaches and press. They were: MVP Pratt (Germantown), Brown (OCS), Gallagher (St. Pat's), Skelly (St. Pat's) Ron Verney (St. Pat's), John Geuss (Coleman), Chepeleff (OCS), Westervelt (Germantown), Hoyer (Germantown), Ricciardella (OCS) and Mike Elgo (Coleman). It was an extremely well run tournament by the Coleman staff. In the crowd was New Paltz High School Coach Frank Davis, who reported that his center Jay Ackert may be ready by the Jan. 7 game with Coleman. Ackert suffered torn ligaments in a game against Marlboro Monday. It was the third time Ackert had incurred the injury.

By IRA FUSFELD

KINGSTON

The championship game of Coleman High School's Holiday basketball Tournament Tuesday night had all the suspense of a one entry horse race. But the consolation game made the evening worth while as the two-night affair came to a close before another packed house.

Just for the record, Germantown won the title, creaming an ice cold Ontario team, thought to be the favorites prior to the event, 80-55, as MVP Steve Pratt chalked up 28 points. Coleman took third place from St. Patrick's, 62-59, in overtime.

The Boiceville Indians shot a horrendous 20 for 96 in their ballgame. Yet Ontario was in it for one half before the Clippers ran away after intermission.

Taking 96 shots in a high school game is not your everyday occurrence. If you figure that a percentage of from, say, 35 to 40 per game is just about right, then Ontario should have hit on some 36 or 37 of its shots and scored over 80 points. No so this time.

The Indians were 11 for 50 in the first half and trailed by only two at the quarter and eight (37-29) at the midway break. That was their hot half.

Still Cold

Ontario came out of the locker room, the frost shining from their noses, and proceeded to cool off some more. OCS tallied nine buckets in 46 second half attempts and Germantown successfully shook off the Ulster County Athletic League quintet with a snappy fast break and some deadly outside work by Pratt.

The Clippers' six foot senior guard pumped in 13 of his 25 in the third quarter as Germantown outscored Ontario 23-8, taking a 60-37 advantage into the final, yawn, period.

At the outset it appeared as if an especially good game was to be in store. Both teams were big, Germantown a bit more so because of 6-9 (or so) the program said) Jim Benton. But the Clipper center went to the bench early with three fouls to even up the ledgers.

Thus, it became in effect, Pratt, 6-1 Bob Frank, 6-3 John Westervelt, 6-0 Bob Moore, and 6-0 Howie Hoyer for Germantown versus 6-2 Pete Chepeleff, 6-2 Mike Ricciardella, 6-3 Tom Wolf, 6-0 Randy Winne, and 5-11 Dan Brown for OCS.

Speed Move

And that's the way it stayed for the first half with the Indians in the contest despite their shooting woes. But at the start of the second half, Ontario Coach Ron Pape pulled out Chepeleff and Wolf in favor of the smaller Bruce Hurley and George Woerthman to get some speed at the expense of the boards. Nothing, however, was to get the ball in the Ontario basket.

In the end, most court side observers felt it was Westervelt, not Pratt, who made Germantown go. He was the man in control of the Clipper attack and when he was on the bench there was a certain something missing.

And about that consolation game. Wouldn't you figure it to have been an utter rout? It should have been. Coleman had all the right combinations to beat a winless St. Patrick's team. Or so it seemed.

The Emerald Knights led 12-4 after two and a half minutes and 20-10 at the quarter. Why? Well that may have been what Statesman Coach Bill DuBois was wondering too, but it all came down to 6-2 soph Bernie Skelly, who was getting every rebound in the immediate area of the hoop, and Tim Gallagher, who went on a hot spree.

Coleman Sluggish
Coleman, meanwhile, was sluggish. The host team had expected to meet Ontario in the finals of its own event and may not have been up for a consolation battle against the seemingly easy team from Catskill.

But when St. Pat's still had a lead (34-25) at halftime, Coleman knew it had better start playing ball.

So, the Statesmen cut the margin to five, 48-41, at the three quarter mark and finally pulled ahead on Tim Mahoney's jump 54-52, with 1:42 to go in the fourth quarter.

Baskets by John Campisi and Bryan Byrne, the latter with 11 seconds remaining, brought the Knights back and sent the game into an extra period. And what a three-minute session that was!

Two free throws by Mark Weber put Coleman up but Campisi quickly scored to tie the game. Then with 50 seconds left Byrne hit one foul shot to make it 59-58 St. Pat's. There was no further scoring for the host line where Coleman kept giving St. Pat's the chance to win. But the Knights kept missing, three times in fact on one and ones, and finally the Statesmen realized that they wouldn't get many more breaks so Weber canned a short one from the baseline to put Coleman up, 60-59.

It still wasn't over. Skelly had a chance to win with five seconds to go, but his shot hit the rim and Kevin Matthews came back to give Coleman a layup at the buzzer for the three-point margin.

Whew! Phil Palladino, who fouled out in the fourth quarter, led the winners with 21 points. Gallagher had 18 for St. Pat's.

"We didn't deserve to win it," Coach DuBois said later. He was right.

REBOUNDS—Twelve players were named to the all-star team for the tourney by a vote of coaches and press. They were: MVP Pratt (Germantown), Brown (OCS), Gallagher (St. Pat's), Skelly (St. Pat's) Ron Verney (St. Pat's), John Geuss (Coleman), Chepeleff (OCS), Westervelt (Germantown), Hoyer (Germantown), Ricciardella (OCS) and Mike Elgo (Coleman). It was an extremely well run tournament by the Coleman staff. In the crowd was New Paltz High School Coach Frank Davis, who reported that his center Jay Ackert may be ready by the Jan. 7 game with Coleman. Ackert suffered torn ligaments in a game against Marlboro Monday. It was the third time Ackert had incurred the injury.

Garo's Tie Sales Are Up

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

MIAMI (AP) — There's been a big boom in tie sales for Garo Yepremian since he kicked his winning field goal in pro football's longest game. But the little Miami kicker knows that a guy like Bubba Smith can cause an instant recession.

"People who are selling my ties tell me they're very happy," Yepremian reported today before the Dolphins' workout for Sunday's American Conference Championship game against Baltimore. "A lot of people are calling the stores ordering my ties."

They are doing so in the wake of Saturday's 37-yard field goal that produced a 27-24 victory over Kansas City after 22 minutes, 40 seconds of sudden-death overtime. That kick made the 5-foot-7 soccer-style booter the No. 1 local hero.

That has meant immediate increase in sales for Yepremian's tie business—one he began following the 1967 season when he was cut by the Detroit Lions.

"When I lost that job I started making ties," said Yepremian, a Cypriot of Armenian heritage who who left the island during the civil war in 1960 and landed in London with his family.

"My parents had always been in the fabric business," Yepremian explained. "When we arrived in London I went to work in a factory as a cutter making tunics for the guards at Buckingham Palace. When Detroit cut me I started the tie business."

Business sometimes rises and falls with his kicks, so his current concern is Smith, mammoth defensive end of the Colts.

Yepremian kicked the winning field goal in a 17-14 victory over Baltimore the first time the teams met this season, but had one blocked by the 6-foot-7, 295-pound Smith during a 14-3 loss in their second meeting.

Smith also blocked two field goal attempts in the playoff game against Cleveland in which the Colts advanced to the AFC championship game and has a total of four for the season on a club that has blocked an unusually high number of seven.

"He does that a lot of times," Yepremian said. "What I have to do is concentrate more on my kicks and the kick higher than I normally do. You lose about five yards distance, but when you know the other team has a terrific rush you have to do that."

Still, the balding, unlikely looking hero has supreme confidence in his ability, a product of the way the Dolphins have treated him since he joined them as a free agent in 1970.

Cardinals Prefer Prayer To the National Anthem

By FRED MCMAINE
UPI Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UPI)—The Louisville Cardinals turned a few people off by their pre-game behavior Tuesday night in the semi-finals of the Holiday Festival basketball tournament, but during their 40 minutes on the court they instilled nothing but awe. The Cardinals caught the wrath of a few flag-wavers among the crowd at Madison Square Garden Tuesday night for their failure to be present on the court during the playing of the national anthem. Some in the crowd intercepted the move as a sign of unpatriotism.

among them ECAC Commissioner George Shiebler. The Garden public address announcer, John Condon, even went so far as to walk out in protest to the move, leaving his assignment to his assistant.

But the Cardinals insisted they weren't being unpatriotic at all. It seems they are a superstitious lot and being on the court during the playing of the national anthem is against their superstitions.

They would rather spend the time in the dressing room in prayer, which is something they have been doing over the past few years. The only time they have appeared on the court for the playing of the national anthem this year was in their opener against Florida...

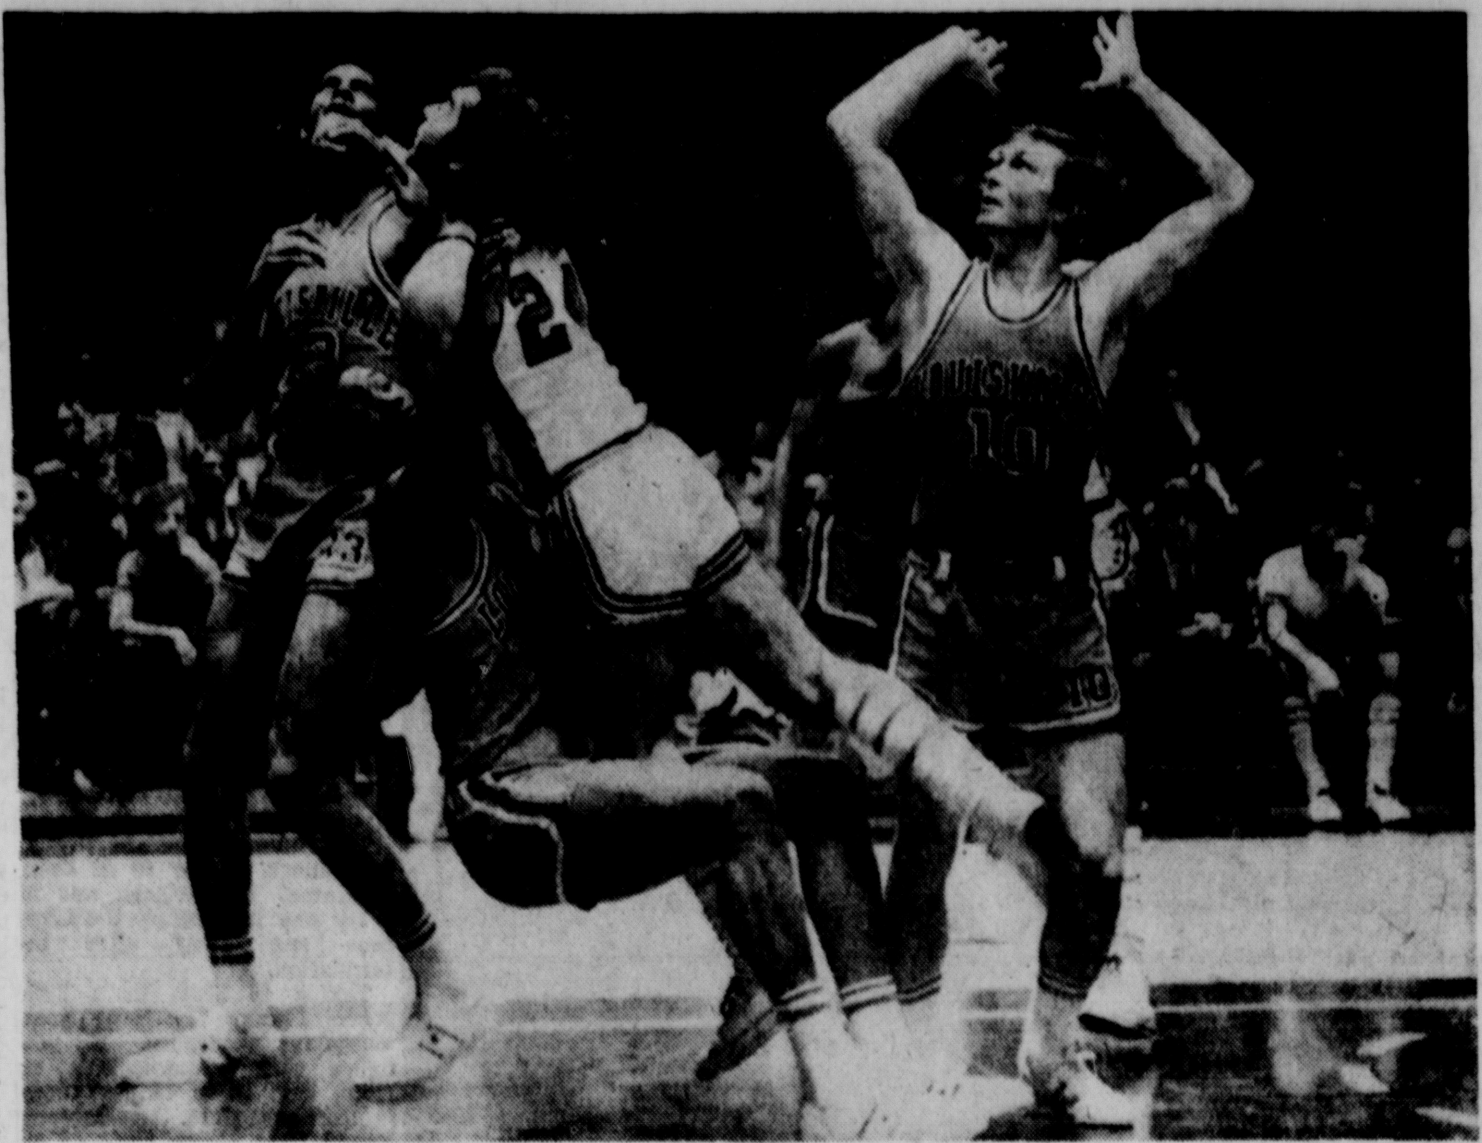

"People are making too big a deal out of our not being out on the court for the playing of the anthem," said Louisville Head Coach Denny Crum. "As long as I was UCLA, we were never on the court for the anthem. I want to do what's best for my team, and they would rather be in the dressing room saying a team prayer. They're superstitious about it and they felt that way before I got here. I don't consider saying a prayer during the national anthem a sign of being unpatriotic."

Whether the Cardinals were being unpatriotic or not, it didn't show in their performance as they annihilated St. Peter's 126-80 in the most devastating offensive showing in the 20-year history of the tournament. That victory earned the Cardinals the right to meet Fordham Thursday night for the championship.

Fordham surprised its following by rallying from a 14-point halftime deficit to defeat Providence 77-72 in overtime. St. Peter's, which had upset Duke in the tourney's opening round, was never in the game with Louisville. The Peacocks fell behind 8-0 in the first two minutes and trailed 58-30 at halftime. Crum took mercy on the Peacocks in the second half by pulling his regulars with 10 minutes remaining, but the subs continued the slaughter.

Louisville set three tournament records during the rout. The 126 points were the most ever scored in a single game, the total of 206 points for both teams also was a tournament record and the Cardinals' 50 field goals also set a record. Ron Thomas led the way for the Cardinals with 26 points while Jim Price tallied 21. Ted Martinuk scored 22 points for St. Peter's but sat out most of the second half when the game was decided.

Fordham used its full-court press to perfection to defeat Providence. The Friars were expected to be able to handle the Rams' harassing style of defense, but Fordham forced them into 40 turnovers overall with many of them coming in the final stages of regulation play.

game record and turned one of the biggest routs in the 26 year history of the classic by crushing St. Peter's 80-26 in a semi-final game. Others in photo (10) Larry Carter and (13) Bill Bunton. (UPI)

Laker Streak at 29

By United Press International
The Los Angeles Lakers are one game away from ending 1971 with a two-month unbeaten string.

The Lakers stretched their record winning streak to 23 games Tuesday night by coasting to a 105-87 victory over the Buffalo Braves. Los Angeles has not lost since the end of October and could end the year on a two-month unbeaten tear Thursday night against Seattle.

Buffalo, with rookie Elmore Smith leading the way, moved out to a 38-27 lead early in the second period before the Lakers exploded. Los Angeles outscored the Braves 25-6 during the last 9 1/2 minutes of the half, holding Buffalo to just 10 points in the period, to break open the game.

Wilt Chamberlain had 23 points and 13 rebounds and Jerry West hit 24 points to lead the Lakers. Smith's 32 points and 20 rebounds paced the Buffalo attack. The Chicago Bulls scored a 116-105 victory that extended their winning streak to six games and handed the defending NBA champion Milwaukee Bucks their third loss in four games. The victory enabled the Bulls to move to within four games of the Bucks in the Midwest Division.

A record home crowd of 19,497 in Chicago saw Bob Love outscore Kareem Abdul-Jabbar 41-35 and lead the Bulls to their victory over the Bucks. Love scored 19 of his points in the third period during which the Bulls took a five-point lead. Abdul-Jabbar made 14 field goals for the Bucks but connected on only seven-of-17 free throws.

The Boston Celtics defeated the Philadelphia 76ers 120-116, the New York Knicks beat the Detroit Pistons 119-100, the Cleveland Cavaliers shaded the Portland Trail Blazers 112-111 and the Baltimore Bullets topped the Cincinnati Royals 119-87 in other Tuesday night games.

John Havlicek scored a game-high 36 points and led a third-period surge which enabled the Celtics to overcome a 16-point deficit at Philadelphia. The victory was the ninth in a row for the Celtics while the loss was the 76ers' eighth in nine games. Billy Cunningham had 24 points for the 76ers.

Walt Frazier scored 30 points and Bill Bradley had 19 for the Knicks, who carried a seven-point lead over Detroit into the fourth period and won going away.

Walt Wesley's free throw after the final buzzer provided the victory margin for the Cavaliers, who outrebounded the Trail Blazers 58-35 and the Bullets got 26 points from Archie Clark and held the Royals to 10 field goals in the first half in their easy triumph at Baltimore.

Otis Taylor AFC's Best

Otis Taylor In Action

NEW YORK (UPI)—Otis Taylor, considered by many to be the best wide receiver in football, today was named by United Press International as the 1971 Player of the Year in the American Football Conference.

The 6-foot-3, 215-pound Taylor, who had one of his greatest seasons as he led the Kansas City Chiefs into the AFC playoffs, captured 12 of the 33 votes cast by a panel of sportswriters from each of the AFC cities.

Quarterback Bob Griese of the Miami Dolphins, the man who directed his team to a 27-24 victory over Taylor and the Chiefs in the AFC playoff on Christmas Day, finished second in the balloting with nine votes while teammate Larry Conka was third with three votes.

Kansas City quarterback Len Dawson was fourth with two votes and there was a four-way tie for the fifth and final spot as Floyd Little of Denver, Walt Sweeney of San Diego, Paul Warfield of Miami and Ted Hendricks of Baltimore all finished with one vote each. Taylor, who at 29 has established himself as one of the premier receivers in football when he is healthy, was stunned when informed he had won the honor.

"It's shocking," said Taylor from his home in Kansas City. "This is the biggest thrill of my life. I think the main thing was staying injury free as far as serious injuries are concerned and getting the ball thrown to me week after week."

Taylor, a seven-year veteran from Prairie View, caught 57 passes to rank second behind conference leader Fred Biletnikoff of the Oakland Raiders. Taylor's 1,110 yards were the most by any receiver in the conference and he also caught seven touchdown passes.

Raiders Claim Lead in SAA Loop

SAUGERTIES first three quarters. The winners showed their usual balanced attack but all-round honors went to hustling Warren Gritmon, who scored 12 points, grabbed seven rebounds, added an assist and harassed the Bussers with steals.

Don Komosa, Allen's league leading rebounder, did his job on the boards, snaring 15 rebounds but the Raider blanket snuffed out any scoring sprees. Scott Miller paced Allen's with 18 points and eight rebounds.

Ron McRae led Mahogany's triumph over Naccarato in the battle of the winless. Both were 0-4 going in, McRae had 16 points. Craig Burkhardt dunked 20 points and picked off 19 rebounds a new seasonal record for the Raiders.

USC's Dream Fades

By JOE CARNICELLI
UPI Sports Writer
Southern California's dreams of deposing UCLA as the West Coast's major basketball power may be just that—dreams. The Trojans, ranked fifth in the nation, were rocked back to reality Tuesday night as 19th-ranked Pennsylvania cruised to an 88-67 victory in the opening round of the Kodak Classic at Rochester, N.Y.

Penn., with Corky Calhoun and Bob Morse leading the way, surged to a 31-13 lead early in the game. The Trojans managed to cut the deficit to 41-37 but Morse and Phil Hankinson combined to keep the Quakers ahead in the second half.

Southern Cal suffered a major blow when backcourt star Paul Westphal fouled out in the second half. Hankinson had 21 points and Morse 20 to lead Penn while Joe Mackey's 17 were high for USC. The Quakers will face St. Bonaventure, which clubbed Rochester, 84-60, in the tourney finale tonight.

In the only other meeting between ranked teams, Steve Downing scored 22 points and pulled down 23 rebounds as No. 7 Indiana held off No. 9 Brigham Young, 61-50. Joby Wright added 18 points for the Hoosiers, who held BYU's high-scoring Kresimir Cosic to 21 points.

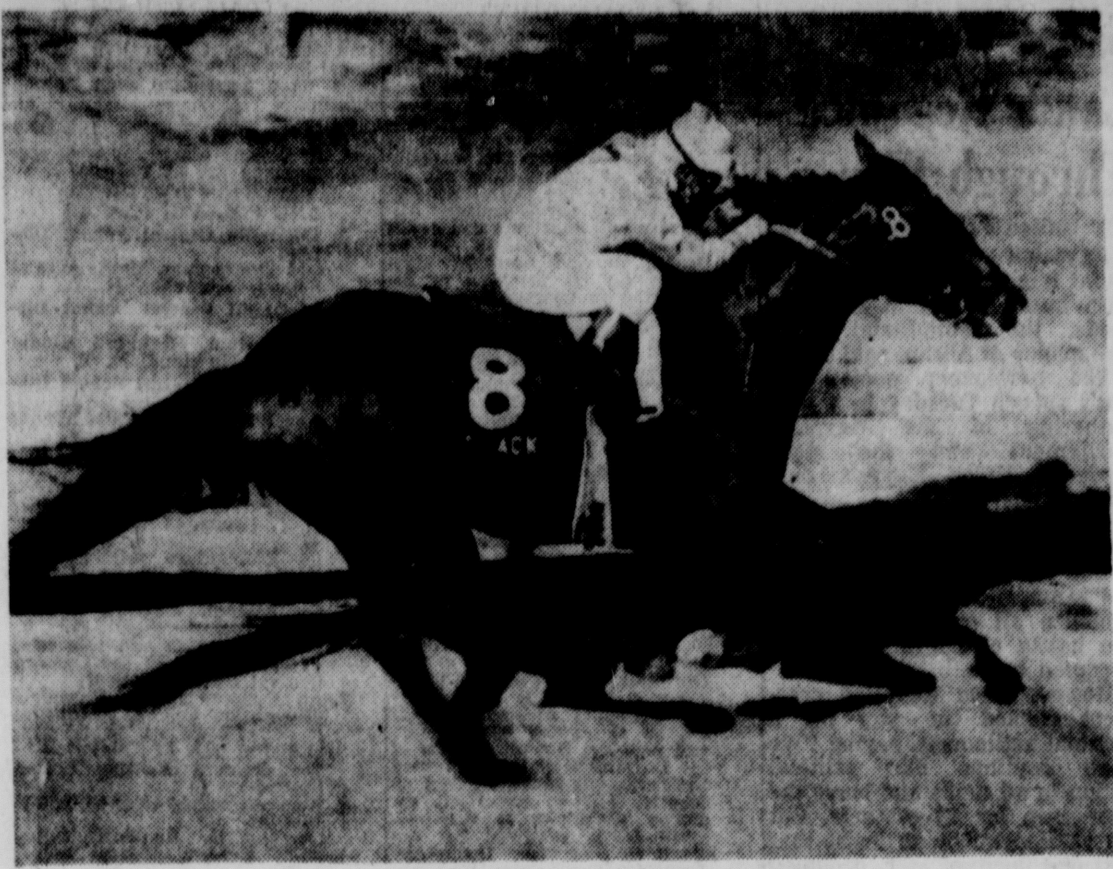

Elsewhere, No. 2 Marquette edged Marshall, 74-72, in the Milwaukee Classic; South Carolina (3) ripped Boston College, 86-64, in the Quaker City Tournament; Long Beach State (10) routed Cal Fullerton, 103-83, in the International City Classic; Louisville (13) crushed St. Peter's, 126-80, in the Holiday Festival; Kentucky (15) whipped Notre Dame, 83-67, and Santa Clara upset No. 16 Jacksonville, 109-88, in the All-College Tournament.

In other action, Illinois, with Nick Weatherspoon hitting 22 points, downed North Carolina State, 74-72, after Florida clobbered Columbia, 87-47, in the Gator Bowl tournament; Kansas State edged Oklahoma, 76-74, and Gene Mack's 34-point performance led Iowa State to a 91-88 victory over Kansas in the Big Eight tournament; and Houston, with Dwight Jones, Steve Newsome and Dwight White combining for 56 points, whipped Michigan State, 106-73, to win the Astro Bluebonnet tournament.

Franklin Irving's 25 points helped Wyoming beat Utah State, 92-85, to capture the Big Blue Classic and Temple edged Minnesota, 60-57, and California shaded Texas Christian, 76-74, in Rainbow Classic action.

HORSE OF THE YEAR: Ack Ack, a dark bay son of Battle Joined, was named thoroughbred racing's Horse of the Year for 1971 in a consolidated national racing poll. He is the undisputed champion, winning honors as the 4-year-old and upward colt, horse or gelding and also taking the award as outstanding sprinter of the year. He's pictured with Willie Shoemaker up in Hollywood Gold Cup in July. (UPI)

Ack Ack Is Voted Horse of the Year

NEW YORK (UPI)—Ack Ack, the versatile 5-year-old horse who proved himself a true champion this season by winning races from 5 1/2 furlongs to 1 1/4 miles, was voted 1971 "Horse of the Year" by members of the National Turf Writers Association, the Morning Telegraph-daily Racing Form and the Thoroughbred Racing Association's Board of Selection.

It was the first time ever that the nation's major racing polls were consolidated to choose the champions of each division.

Ack Ack, who raced exclusively in California for the Forked Lightning Ranch of oilman E. E. "Buddy" Fogelson, also was named the champion of the 4-year-old and up division and Sprinter of the Year.

Before Ack Ack became sick and had to be retired to stud last summer, the dark bay son of Battle Joined, won seven of eight races and earned $303,300 to raise his career total to $636,641.

In a fitting climax to a sensational year, Ack Ack captured the 1 mile Hollywood Gold Cup in his final race, winning by a widening 3 3/4 lengths under an import of 134 pounds.

Canonero II, who came to this country last spring from Venezuela and won the Kentucky Derby and Preakness before faltering in the Belmont Stakes, the final leg of the Crown, was named 3-year-old champion. Canonero has not raced since his fourth-place finish in the Belmont but has been shipped to Santa Anita in California and is expected to race again shortly after the new year.

Meadow Stable's Riva Ridge, who won seven of nine starts and $503,263, was the 2-year-old champion in the colt and gelding division while Numbered Account took baby filly honors.

Turkish Trousers was the 3-year-old filly winner; Shuvee was the 4-year-old and upward filly or mare champ; Run The Gantlet, the turf champion; and Shadow Brook, the steeplechase or hurdle winner.

Monticello Feature Goes to Afton Pistol

 PHILADELPHIA (UPD)—The financial road has been paved toward the construction of the $25 million Neshaminy Race Track in suburban Lower Bucks County, Patrick J. Rooney, president of the Continental Thoroughbred Racing Association, announced Tuesday.

Rooney said the track, which will be situated on a 400-acre tract near Interstate 95, should be completed for the November, 1973, winter meet.

Purse Stolen, Woman Has No Ticket

NEW YORK (UPI)—Holda Johannson, 66, cried Tuesday when told that her Irish Sweepstakes ticket had won $52,000. Her purse containing that ticket had been snatched a month ago by a young thief as she walked down a Manhattan street.
But the Brooklyn widow's story may have a happy ending. The seller of the ticket said he still has the receipt and Mrs. Johannson will get the money if she can provide positive identification.
"I am nothing right now," Mrs. Johannson said. "I feel like I'm half dead. I want to use the money to visit my sister, Sigrid, who is dying now in Sweden. I haven't seen her in 10 years."
Mrs. Johannson has been sent sweepstakes tickets for several years by her daughter who buys them from a coworker, William Iadonisi. Iadonisi, who as the seller will receive some money too, said Mrs. Johannson must prove her identity and have a form from Ireland notarized to get the money.

Detectives Arrest Man After Probe

KINGSTON

The arrest followed investigation by authorities of a case that had been under police probe for several months. Details of the burglary and larceny were not available. Davide was held for City Court arraignment.

Youth Nabbed For Drug Sale

TILLSON
A 17-year-old youth was arrested Tuesday night by state police on a charge of criminal sale of dangerous drugs third degree—marijuana.
Edward John Joule of Tillson was picked up on a bench warrant issued by New Paltz Town Justice Rexford Schneider, who released the youth pending further court action.
The arrest was part of the long-range police investigation that concluded with massive narcotics raids on Saturday, Dec. 18.

Sadat Wants Lands Regained Through War

By United Press International
Egyptian President Anwar Sadat has decided to go to war with Israel to regain Egyptian lands, the semi-official Al Cairo newspaper Al Ahran said today.
The newspaper quoted Sadat's speech Tuesday to a joint gathering of the Egyptian parliament and the Arab Socialist Union—Egypt's only political party.
"The decision (to fight) has already been taken," it quoted Sadat as saying. "It remains the same. This means we must mobilize all our resources for the battle of liberation of the occupied lands."
However, the Egyptian president opened the way for a political settlement, saying "We shall continue our political action in all fields and leave the door open for all contacts. But we shall continue to insist that not one inch of our occupied territories will be surrendered."
According to diplomatic sources in Beirut, Sadat's speech means that although war may be in the offing, Egypt will not necessarily resume hostilities immediately.
They noted that although Sadat has said repeatedly 1971 is the year of decision for a Middle East peace settlement either by peace or war, his speech left the way open for political moves.
Egypt has said it will support the U.N. mediation mission of Gunnar V. Jarring, who is expected to hold contacts with Cairo and Israel beginning in mid-January.
Arab diplomats said if these contacts fail to produce results, Sadat probably will resort to war.

Your Horoscope

Thursday, December 30

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Due to the Full Moon tomorrow there is a considerable amount of activity in almost every direction especially following midday. Be sure you are as prepared as possible to accept and go along with this added vitality and to take advantage of these new outlets. You need to control your tendency to get too much done however.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Tomorrow would be a better time to handle those annoying problems with ease and efficiency, so don't try to do it today. The results would be bad now. Become more attuned to current conditions.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You comprehend monetary maneuverings and matters well now and can help yourself and others easily. Impress with your fine practical sense one who is important in your business operations. Courtesy to all now. GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Thinking about personal matters is fine but if you put them on a more practical basis, you get them handled much better. Keeping promises you have made to partners is most important now. Show much devotion to mate in p.m.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Plan now for those time to handle those annoying problems with ease and efficiency, so don't try to do it today. The results would be bad now. Become more attuned to current conditions.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Amusement is favored provided you do not spend too much for it and get in deeper later as a result. You want to tackle too much work at the end of the year, but this had better wait. Make the most of the holidays ahead. Plan now.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Basic matters need immediate action now, so get busy on them early. Some of them may be hard, but perseverance wins out. Try to keep all in harmonious accord at home.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Now that you are capable of making new arrangements to improve your life, make sure you do not permit some glamorous to curtail your efforts. An associate feels depressed. Do something to restore his ego.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Try to please those who have power over your life, affairs, and gain more support and wellbeing for yourself. Study your financial position well and accurately. Know just what things to do to improve.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You can now go through with that plan you have to make your relationship with an associate far more harmonious. Don't try to get out of any promises you have made to others. Nor is it wise to change them either.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you plan your time and activities early, you can get so much accomplished you will even surprise yourself. Try more modern methods that are worthwhile. Make little changes in your wardrobe that are good.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) By making small changes in arrangements, that plan for recreation can work out very much better. A smiling face can be most helpful to others who are feeling depressed for some reason or other. Show generosity, too.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Others may break promises made to you but take this in your stride and try to find out the reason why. This could be a matter of lack of funds. Show humanity. Get rid of whatever is outmoded and feel better.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those fascinating young people who thinks others are persecuting him or her with a problem is difficult to solve, so teach early not to be so concerned with self that not enough effort is expended on work to be done. Objective thing will then straighten out this life and your youngster can not only run the race, but beat others at it. Give as good an education as you can, and religious training early.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

SHE "HATES" IT: (Q) I hate school! I really hate it! I am 14 and in the sixth grade and I've never failed. I make good grades. I just hate going to school and I hate being there and I hate doing homework. I hate school all the way around.

Is there any way to keep from going besides having a private teacher? My family can't afford anything like that.—School (Ugh!) Girl in Alabama!

(A) Take another look at school. You meet friends there. Without school you might have no friends. You might be very lonely. You might have no one to talk to. That would be a life much more to be hated than going to school.

In school you are learning the patterns you will use all your life: How to discipline yourself, how to meet schedules, how to make friends, how to mix work with pleasure, how to get along with people, how to carry out orders (give them, too, in a number of student activities), how to find solutions to problems big or little.

Please do not let a temporary negative attitude ruin your life. Please stay in school.

MOM SAYS NO: (Q) My boy friend's mother thinks I'm the wrong girl for him. She wants me to be Miss America, get on the honor roll, go to church school instead of a public school, and get at least a bachelor's degree in college, preferably a master's.

I am a nice girl and have good manners, and I do all right in school. But I can't be Miss America or any of those other things. The result is that my boy friend has to slip out to see me and he has to call me when his mother is not at home. We love each other and I do not think she is fair. I do like her, though. What can I do?—16 in Maryland.

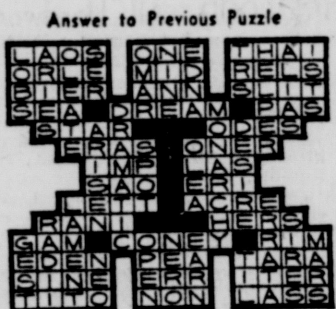

(A) Visit your boy friend's mother and try to have a heart-to-heart talk with her. Tell her you like and respect her and want her to like and respect you. Be kind as you talk. Don't be frightened. Don't be belligerent.

You can't make her like you. But you can gain her respect if you talk intelligently and sincerely. If you really do like her, your task will be much easier.

Action on 'Hawaii Five-O'

NEW YORK (AP) — Since the demise of "Batman," network television has had few jolly criminals or merry masters of disguise. Thus Tuesday night's "Hawaii Five-O" on CBS was something of a surprise. And it certainly was an acting romp for guest star Hume Cronyn.

This is usually a tense, hard-fisted action series in which smiling top cop Steve McGarrett cleverly brings the bad guys to book. This week, however, a jaunty senior citizen outwitted Steve and his men at every turn except, of course, the last one.

Cronyn played a cool schemer who slipped out of prison and became engaged in a complicated plan that involved hoodwinking two sets of accomplices in his effort to make off with $4 million.

Cronyn changed disguises—wigs, beards and clothes, including women's—about every 15 minutes and was as handy with mechanical devices as with the electronics wizard of "Mission: Impossible."

The dialogue was sprightly, the action fast. In fact the only trouble with all the fun was that it didn't quite fit the sober frame of "Hawaii Five-O."

"Cannon," which followed, also had an adversary who called all the turns except the last one. In this case it was a Cuban refugee trying to make off with a briefcase of free-Cuba funds contributed by hard-pressed fellow nationals.

Cannon and McGarrett caught their men in essentially the same way. McGarrett figured his man would call a messenger service to deliver an important package, so he checked messenger services. Cannon deduced that his would rent a certain make of automobile and waited for his man at the rental agency. Both were right so, twice again, crime didn't pay.

Tuesday night seems largely devoted to action shows, and so far this season, its audiences have not been kind to Glen Campbell, whose variety show was moved out of a more comfortable Sunday night spot.

This week, the program's emphasis was on sentiment as Glen and his guests celebrated the holiday season by putting their families in front of the cameras. Pat Boone, wife and four daughters were present for some singing. Dom de Luise, and his family were there, with Dom handling a couple of weak but good-humored sketches. Glen's wife and children were front and center.

It was not particularly exciting but the music was sweet and the kids cute so it was a pleasant way to relax after dinner.

Pentagon Officials Study Guard Draft

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top Pentagon officials are studying the possibility of drafting young men into the Army National Guard.

There are some legal and political hangups, but guard sources say the draft may be the only way to bolster a sagging but critical part of the nation's military establishment.

Army Guard strength has dipped to its lowest level in six years—384,000, 16,000 below the authorized level.

Guard officials think they may lose another 80,000 citizen-soldiers before next fall and then face serious manpower shortages.

For now, they are relying on higher pay and other incentives to re-enlistment to reverse the diminishing size of units around the country.

And they emphasize that Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird would probably seek congressional approval before going ahead with a draft into the part-time Army. But the idea is a very live one, officials say.

The idea of using the draft to support the guard, and other military reserves, is startling because it comes even as the Nixon administration is trying to end the draft for the regular armed forces by mid-1973.

But Pentagon officials do not see any necessary conflict. They contend the government can continue to cut the size of the regular forces only if it can maintain a strong guard and reserves to meet crisis situations.

If the country and Congress can accept that reasoning, they may also accept drafting young men into the guard, the officials say.

But until that becomes necessary, officials are banking on what they call an "incentive package," chiefly a proposed re-enlistment bonus, to stem guard manpower losses.

With congressional pressure on to hold down the defense budget, guard officials fear that the bonus, costing $55 million, will fall by the wayside.

Defense sources indicated Laird would hold off on any decision regarding the draft and the guard until he has had a chance to gauge the effects of recent military pay increases, which trickle down to guardsmen, and of a recruiting campaign.

In any event, officials agree the law is hazy as to whether there is now authority to draft men into the National Guard.

President, Brandt Discuss Trips

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon today turned to his upcoming trips to China and the Soviet Union as prime subjects for the second and last day of his summit conference with West German Chancellor Willy Brandt.

Nixon was particularly interested in this not only to explain the historic visits but to gain from the impressions Brandt picked up in his meetings last summer with Russian leaders.

Officials on both sides said the talks have been a great success, conducted with warmth and full understanding and agreement on the wide range of subjects.

The major development from Tuesday's opening rounds was a pledge by Nixon, in the words of Secretary of State William P. Rogers, "to do everything we can to maintain our troop strength in Europe."

This was of much value to Brandt, who sought reassurances of a continued strong American presence in Europe to buttress his negotiating position to reaching an understanding with East Germany.

Rogers, in his meeting with Foreign Minister Walter Scheel, and Nixon, in his session with Brandt, stressed that the United States will in no way negotiate any agreement with the Soviet Union on troop cuts or other European matters outside the framework of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

"In other words," Rogers told reporters, "we are not going to make any agreement about reducing our forces in Europe unless we do it in consultation and in full cooperation with our allies."

Rogers, who led the major briefing on Tuesday's talks, also made these points:

—No progress has been made with the Soviets on joint East-West troop cuts in Central Europe, and Nixon and Brandt "did not discuss the question of a symbolic reduction of forces." The German leader in the past has suggested a 5 or 10 per cent cut by the West might be in order.

—There was hardly any discussion of the ongoing U.S.-Soviet strategic arms limitation talks because "we have been in such close consultation with our allies on SALT talks that I do not think there is any apprehension at all on that subject."

—Summing up the talks, Rogers said: "I think the most important general conclusion that I would make is that the relations between our two governments are excellent, and we are proceeding on parallel courses."

From the German side, sources said Brandt was very pleased with Nixon's position on a strong western alliance and continued U.S. military presence on the continent.

Nixon Readies Union Address

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon plans to deliver his election-year State of the Union message to Congress on Jan. 20, and the Democratic majority is at work on a televised assessment of its own, to be delivered a day or two later.

The White House has advised Senate Republicans of the date but has not yet sent word as to whether the President will speak at mid-day or will make the speech in the evening, on prime television time.

The expectation on Capitol Hill is that the Nixon message will offer no dramatic, new proposals, but will concentrate upon urging a Democratic Congress to act on what he already has offered.

One Republican legislative tactician said Nixon won't get anything new out of Congress anyway. He said a Congress controlled by the Democratic party that will be challenging Nixon for the White House in 1972 will be in no mood to deal with new administration proposals.

But there is plenty of leftover business on the domestic agenda already presented by the President, with welfare reform, health care and insurance, and federal revenue sharing with the states and cities topping the pending list.

Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien has speculated that Nixon may indeed post new tax proposals in 1972, suggesting the President may recommend a value-added tax, a form of national sales tax.

There has been speculation such a proposal might be advanced as a means of financing massive new federal aid to schools to ease the burden of local property taxes.

It could be an attractive offering in a campaign year, although the chances of approval in a Democratic Congress would be slim. But the administration might try to translate inaction on such a proposal into an issue with harried taxpayers during the campaign.

One certain Nixon offering will be legislation to confirm his devaluation of the dollar by raising the price of gold from $35 to $38 an ounce. Democratic leaders have pledged to seek prompt approval.

Firefight Is Cited As Isolated Incident

By United Press International

Indian officials said today they believed a firefight breaking the India-Pakistan ceasefire along the western front Tuesday was an isolated incident and did not indicate an imminent resumption of war.

Officials said five Indian soldiers were killed and 29 wounded in the Pakistan attack on an Indian position in the Ganganagar area of Rajasthan state, about 200 miles northwest of New Delhi. A spokesman said six Pakistani troops were captured and one later died from wounds.

The clash was the first ceasefire violation reported along the western front since soon after the truce went into effect Dec. 17, ending the 14-day war.

Indian officials said they sent reinforcements into the area even though they believed the fight an isolated incident.

Prime Minister Indira Gandhi flew today to Kashmir, a northern state claimed by both India and Pakistan, her second trip to the western front in less than a week.

She told a crowd of about 50,000 persons in Srinagar, capital of Kashmir, that India's aim in the 14-day war had not been to weaken Pakistan.

"We do not want a weak neighbor," Mrs. Gandhi said at an outdoor rally in the biting cold, "but we will not tolerate that Pakistan or her allies try to weaken us in any way."

She said she hoped Pakistan's new leadership would realize their best course lay in friendship with India.

Earlier she visited hospitals in the Amritsar area and took gifts to wounded soldiers.

Her second trip was to an area farther north about 400 miles from New Delhi.

In Dacca, the capital of the People's Republic of Bangladesh, formerly East Pakistan, the acting president of the new country, called again for the release of the rebel, Sheikh Mujibur Rahman.

There were indications a major conflict was brewing inside the Awami League without Rahman's control. Political sources said the conflicts among the present leaders have not yet developed to the point where they cannot be mended but unless Rahman is released political chaos could result.

Securities Commission Scores Brokerage Houses

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Securities and Exchange Commission has accused the nation's brokerage houses of mismanagement during a stock market volume boom — and later of helping to precipitate a stock market price bust.

Its charges are in a mammoth report of several hundred thousand words asking Congress to give it more power to make more effective the "self-regulation" system which has policed the Securities industry since Congress created the SEC in response to the 1929 stock market crash.

Its recommendations may disappoint some who believe that self-regulation is inadequate. Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., chairman of the Senate securities subcommittee, said in March he saw signs that self-regulation "is in some instances inadequate to meet the needs of the 70s."

The SEC criticism was aimed at the securities industry's reaction to the huge and unexpected surge of orders which occurred in 1967. It produced days in which more than 20 million shares changed hands — and the industry proved incapable of dealing with the resulting paperwork.

In the paper crisis, the SEC said, brokers' back offices became "a trackless forest" and brokers "lost control" with their records "a veritable shambles" in "the worst securities snarl ever experienced."

Before that problem had subsided, the industry helped create the market plunge of 1969-70 by investing too much of its own capital in stocks, rather than in improving its own operations. When it was forced to sell to raise cash, it fed the downturn in stock prices, the SEC said.

It also sought power to industry plays the market with money it does not own — the uninvested cash left in dealers' hands by their customers. The customers realize none of the profits that might result when their money is used in that fashion.
